and a Blockhouse Destroyed. or That Hobson Had Been Killed-Terrific Gunnery.

[A. P. NIGHT REPORT. COPYRIGHT, 1898.] ON BOARD THE ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH BOAT DANDY, off Guantanamo, Saturday, June 18, 5 p.m. via Kingston (Jamaica,) Sunday, June a.m.-Cuban scouts report today that the inhabitants of Caimanera have strewn the streets with straw and oil, with the intention of destroying the city and fleeing to the hills. Caimanera lies four miles up the bay from Camp McCalla, under the guns of the American ships, and the situation is desperate. Starving and faminestricken, convinced of the ultimate triumph of the American arms, and without faith in the protection of the Spanish soldiery, the people are believed to have determined to leave their houses in ashes behind them and seek safety in the hills of the north. scouts declare that every building of the town is being rapidly prepared for the torch.

The situation of the besieged is a fearful one. The people are eating horses and mules, and are scouring the hills for fruits and herbs. Oc casionally brief bombardments by the American fleet leave the helpless citizens terror-stricken, no preparations for defense being made. It is also stated that the Spanish gunboat at Caimanera has been loaded with inflammables, and will be burned with the city, her commander declaring that she will never become an American soldiers are in almost as complete a state of panic as are the civilians, and that they could easily be induced to of the prisoners taken by the marines also say they believe the Spanish troops are on the verge of surrender, owing to the lack of food. Capt. McCalla of the cruiser Marblehead and Lieut, -Col. Huntington, in command of the marines, are not so sure, however, of the reported Spanish rout. They received informa-tion yesterday that a general attack by a force of 3500 Spanish soldiers and guerrillas on Camp McCalla is contemplated within a night or two. Preparation was made for an assault.

When the Associated Press dispatch boat Dandy arrived at Guantanamo, the hills about the marine camp were brilliant under the shifting rays of the searchlights of the Marblehead, Dolphin and Scorpion, and the marines were lying in the rifle pits, at the guns, and anxious for a battle, but the night passed without the firing of a shot. The same watchful care was exercised today, as Capt. McCalla is convinced that an attack is likely to occur at any moment. The Iowa joined the fleet here this morning, and later the admiral came over on the flagship to inspect the fortifications and confer with Capt. Mc-Calla and Lieut..-Col. Huntington.

The coast in the vicinity of Guantanamo is dotted with bright-hued Cuban flags. Numerous camps of the insurgents have been established al the beach between Santiago and this place and are used by the admiral as means of communication with the Cubans in the interior. The aid which these men have given has proved highly valuable to the Americans Their stories of the destitution and revolt among the Spanish soldiers in this vicinity have been corroborated by interviews with prisoners captured

Gen. Perejo, who is in command of perate in regard to the obtaining of food for his men. The prisoners who have been captured appear to have been ill-fed, and are apparently indif-

Another body of five Spaniards was captured yesterday by Ensign A. A. Pratt of the Marblehead. While cruising in a steam launch outside the bay, he picked up a forty-foot sloop containing a Spanish captain by the name of Tores and four sallors. They said they were on their way to Guantan-amo to get a supply of oil for the lighthouse at Cape Maysi, but the papers found on the sloop proved that they had been sent to obtain information relative to the American forces. The crew of the sloop asserted that they had been ill-fed and frightfully ill-treated by the Spanish commander of the Cape Maysi forces.

There was a brief bombardment of blockhouse up the bay by the battleship Oregon yesterday, and it is be lieved that at least a score of Spaniards were killed. Scouting parties re-port that the blockhouse was completely destroyed, but that they were unable to discover any bodies, the remains of the soldiers who had been killed probably having been carried of by their comrades.

Late this afternoon the flagship New York returned to the fleet off Santiago de Cuba. The marines are growing very restless, owing to the delay in the arrival of the reinforcements of troops but it is generally believed here today that the transports will reach Santiago not later than Monday.

A rumor to the effect that Lieut Hobson and his fellow-heroes had been seen on the walls of Moro Castle under Spanish guard caused much excitement among the fleet off Santiago today, but the story is discredited on Commodore Schley's flagship. The officers say that the Spanish sentries were mistaken for the American

WRECK AND RUIN.

[A. P. NIGHT REPORT. COPYRIGHT, 1898.] ON BOARD ASSOCIATED PRES DISPATCH BOAT DAUNTLESS, off Santiago de Cuba, Saturday, June 18, noon, via Kingston (Jamaica,) Sunday, June 19, noon-A careful inspection of the fortifications along the crest of the hills defending Santlago Harbon since the bombardment Thursday morning shows the American gunner spread wreck and ruin everywhere Some of the batteries were demolished beyond repair. The vultures which circled over the hills as thick as swollaw around a chimney for hours efter the firing ceased, furnished grewsome evi denc of the fatality among the Span-ish soldiers. Hundreds of troops could be seen from the ships digging in mounds of earth piled up by the exolosions of the projectiles from the heavy guns for bodies, while their heads were fanned by the wings of the black scavengers of the battlefield.

There were two spots, one on the east and the other on the west of the harbor entrance which was denuded or foliage. The hill tops seem literally blown away. These marked the places where the 200-pound charges of gur cotton thrown by the Vesuvius landed. But the most ominous token of death flew from Moro Castle. The saffron flag of Spain was half-masted for several hours. The significance of this is not known. It is not customary to half-mast flags, but possibly some Spanish leader was killed by the heavy fire of the guns, though some officers of the squadron believe that the flag was half-masted as a notification to the Americans that Lieut. Hobson and his brave men were dead. If such is the case, they must have been wantonly murdered. The Spanish might seek to lay their death to the bombardment, but not a shot from the Americans struck the fortress.

Neither Admiral Sampson or Com modore Schley believe that Lieut. Hobon and his party have been killed. We have seventeen prisoners taker at Guantanamo, including a lieuten ant, besides a number in the United States, for reprisals or exchange. There was evident demoralization among the Spanish troops during the hombardment. Officers could be seen. with drawn swords, driving the men to the guns, but even then they could not be forced to stay so long as our fire was directed at them. In fifteen minutes of night work the Vesuvius had shattered their nerves.

It is believed by some that the 13inch projectile fired from the Texas which was reported to have exploded the powder magazine in one of the western batteries, did not fall in the battery, but went beyond and blew up one of the ships in the harbor.

A dramtiac incident of the bombardment was the act of a Spanish officer, who bravely ran along the parape under a heavy fire, 'encouraging his men to stand their ground Shot and shell rained about him, and after one terrific explosion, he was seen no more and the parapet has disappeared. He could not have escaped death. From the foretop of the Brooklyn grounds could be noticed, but a minute ater dust and flying débris would tak their places, and when the smoke raised away, only a spot of red earth could be seen-gun and gunners had deadly and destructive bombardment of the war thus far. Scarcely a sho from the big guns from the squadron was superb, and not only were the coast forts annihilated, but the teries on Cayo Smith, up the harbor were destroyed. Had all the ships

panish Officers Go Into Battle Drunk - Augusti Court-martialing and Shooting Them-Ameriean Flag Retaken

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.] NEW YORK, June 19.- [Exclusive Dispatch.1 The World's cable from Manila by way of Hongkong, says the Philippine insurgents under Gen. Aguinaldo defeat the Spaniards as often as they meet. Aguinaldo'c forces are fighting bravely, and are treating their prisoners like civilized people. On the other hand, many of the Spanish officers are trying to drown their desperation in drink. Credible reports say these officers go into battle drunk, and Gen. Augusti is court-martialing and shooting them every day.

The insurgents behaved gallantly in a fight for the possession of a stone convent in Old Cavite, June 1. The Spaniards fought well, too. Augusti sent 2000 Spanish regulars from Manila to attack Aguinaldo's forces at Cavite. The fight lasted all The Spaniards were repulsed, and the officers led the flight in retreat. They took refuge in an old convent, a substantial building, with walls five feet thick, built for all time. Aguinaldo surrounded the convent, and his first plan was to starve out the beleaguered ones, but he found, June 6, that provisions were being smuggled in to them, and so he tackled the building, beginning by opening fire with his mountain guns.

Meantime Gen. Augusti, hearing of his soldiers' plight, sent 4000 regulars to relieve them. Aguinaldo led an attack on these 4000, but after the first brush he adopted another method. He sent detachments of 300 or 400 men, armed with machetes, on the flanks of the Spanish, who constantly harassed

In the first attack of these detachnents, 150 Spanish soldiers and a lieutenant-colonel were killed. In the econd onslaught, four officers and sixty men were killed. Again and again the attacks were repeated until 900 Spaniards had been killed, the insurgents report. The convent, too, became untenable. Spaniards retreated along the road to Manila, but made a stand at Bacoor. Aguinaldo and his men fought them flercely there, and the Spanish fled again. then pursued the enemy to within sight of Manila. The insurgents say they

PASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.1 LONDON, June 20 .- The Hongkong correspondent of the Daily Mall, tele-graphing Sunday, says: "The native proclamation of independence will be signed on Monday. Manila is com-pletely surrounded by the insurgents, of whom there are three forces de-ployed about the city. The success of the rebels is wonderful. The insurgents have captured old Cavite Church taking 270 prisoners, and they now hold the entire shore of the bay right around to Malate. A foreign fire brigade, composed of British, Swiss and Germans intend to remain ashore."

THE GERMAN WAY. [ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] LONDON, June 19.—The Berlin cor-respondent of the Times says:

"It seems probable that if Admiral Dewey is unable to undertake the re-sponsibility for the safety of the Ger-mans at Manlia, Admiral Diedrichs shall land a force. Once a German landling has taken place, German in-terests will doubtless assume a new aspect, and, as the Marine Politische Correspondenz has already pointed out, it will be as easy to claim a guarantee or guarantees for the future of the Philippines as it was in the Shan Tung Peninsula. "The Kolnischne Zeitung, uttering s warning to the United States that it will not find colonizing easy, proceeds to say: 'An administration which is so corrupt and so completely at the mercy of the most pernicious personal influence as that of the American Un ion, will hardly be able to repair the ravages which have been wrought by Spanish neglect and priestly rule in the course of centuries. The citizens of the most free republic do not seem to realize the enormous burdens which a military occupation of these colonies and their protection by a navy will impose upon a state. The Americans are not even prepared to protect their own coasts agains a naval power of any importance."

FRESH PROVENDER. [ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]
WASHINGTON, June 19.—If practicable, the commissary branch of the War Department will make arrange-ments for the supply of troops which go to the Philippines with fresh beef and fresh vegetables in reasonable quantities. Those soldiers who have started already to Manila have a sup-ply of canned beef, but the preference of the men naturally is for the fresh or refrigerated article, and it is probable if adequate room aboard the steamers can be secured, the department will send a large quantity to the islands.

Onions, potatoes and canned to-matoes constitute the principal ar-ticles of the soldiers' diet and an effort will be made to send an ample supply with each ship that goes to the islands that can accommodate them. CORBIN AND MILES.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] WASHINGTON, June 19.—Adjt.-Gen. Corbin characterizes as absurd the published report that he would be given an important command at the front, and in a measure would succeed Gen. Miles in the direction of military affairs. Such a thing, he said, had never entered his mind, or so far as he knew, that of any one else in autherew, that of any one else in authority.

He had never heard it intimated from any responsible source that Gen. Miles might be relieved of some of his duties, and he did not believe that such a thing was considered. And even if it were true, it was beyond reason, he added, that his (Corbin's) position would be changed in consequence.

AN ALLEGED MESSAGE. (ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT. 1

MADRID, June 19, 9 p.m.-The stateof Manila. The insurgents say they killed 2100. Returning, Aguinaldo stormed the old convent, and of the Spaniards who remained there, he killed ninety, and captured 250.

The insurgents are proud and boastful, but the Americans on the ships declare that Aguinaldo's men showed the greatest bravery. One of the captured Spaniards had an American flag.

Shores Of Santiago Bay Lined With the Enemy.

Shafter Forces Will Get A-plenty of Spanish.

Launches From the New York and Fire-Gallant Conduct of Cadeta in Charge.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

OFF SANTIAGO DE CUBA, Saturday, June 18, 10 a.m., via Kingston, Jamaica, Sunday, June 19, 4 p.m.-Several attempts to find landing-places for the United States troops within a distance of two miles west of Santiago have determined, with previous inquiries to the eastward, that the shore for fifteen miles is lined with Spanish, While this will not prevent a landing close to Santiago, it may entail considerable delay, as the surrounding country must be thoroughly shelled and cleared before the troops can land in safety.

When Rear-Admiral Sampson yesterday received advices that upward of thirty transports would be here today (Saturday,) he sent word that they should stand to the south ten miles. and lie there until a landing-place had been secured. Yesterday at daylight the launches of the New York and the Massachusetts reconnoitered the shore between Cabanas, about two miles westward of the entrance to Santiago Harbor, and Guayacano, two miles further west, both of which points lie east of the range of mountains surrounding Santiago Bay. The launches pushed their noses into a hornet's nest. The brush was fairly alive with Spanish troops, infantry and cavalry, and the fire opened upon the launches was so fierce that their retreat had to be covered by the Vixen

When the Texas asked permission of Commodore Schley to take a hand, the commodore seized the megaphone and shouted to Capt. Philip: "Yes, go in and give 'em hell, Jack." The Texas landed 4-inch shells on the battery at Cabanas, completely demolishing it. Lieut. Sharpe of the Vixen, and Lieut, Harlow in command of the launches, were both complimented by Admiral

It is believed the insurgents who are in force and under the command o Gen. Garcia, about fifteen miles west, will render effective aid in driving the Spanish skirmishers off the shore. The following is the abstract of Lieut, Harlow's report to the commander of the Vixen, dated June 18:

Sampson for gallantry.

"The expedition consisted of a steam unch from the Massac charge of Cadet Hart and a launch from the New York in charge of Cadet Powell. I took passage on the Massachusetts launch, leading the way. Soundings were taken on entering the bay, close under the old fort, and we were preparing to circumnavigate the bay at full sped, when fire was opened from the fort and rocks on shore. The Massachusetts launch was some distance ahead and about forty yards off the fort. There was no room to turn, and our one-pounder could not be brought to bear. We backed and turned under a heavy fire.

"Cadet Hart operated the gun as soon as it could be brought to bear, sitting exposed in the bow and working the gun as coolly and as carefully as if at target practice. Cadet Powell had been firing since the Spanlards opened. He also was perfectly cool. Both launches ran out under a heavy fire. The number of Spaniards along the shore was large. The launches, as soon as was practicable, sheered to give the Vixen the range of the fort The Vixen and Texas silenced the shore fire promptly.

"I strongly commend Cadet Hart and Cadet Powell for their cool management of the launches. One launch was struck several times. Nobody on either hurt. A bullet struck a shell at Cadet Hart's foot between the projectile and the powder, but failed to explode the latter. Coxswain O'Donnell and Seaman Bolom are commended, as is also the coolness with which the marines and sailors worked under the Spanish

"Nothing was learned at Cabanas Bay, but at Guanaganco it is evident landing is practicable for ship's boats The same is true at Ranco Cruz, a small bay to the eastward. Both would be valuable with Cabanas, but useless without it. I am informed that to the north and westward of Cabanas Bay Condition of the British money and there is a large clearing with plenty of ground, grass and water. I think a simultaneous landing within the places ships shell the adjacent woods. A im

tion would naturally follow at the

GOT SHAFTER LANDED [ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] MADRID, June 19, 7 p.m .- Private dispatches received here York say Gen. Shafters expedition has landed near Santiago de Cuba, and will attack the town immediately.

CUBAN ASSISTANCE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] KEY WEST, June 19, 2:30 p.m. United States supply ship arrived here his morning from Guantaname, which lace she left Thursday last. From uterviews with some of those on board he vessel, it was learned that 100 ans, who had joined the United Cubans, who had joined the United States marines when a landing was effected, fought gailantly and rendered great assistance to the Americans their aid being especially valuable in the work of throwing up entrench.

On the way here the supply ship passed the fleet of transports having on board the army of Gen. Shafter, with a convoy of warships. The vessels were in excellent order, and the lines were well closed up.

GEN. MILES'S EXPEDITION. [ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] WASHINGTON, June 19 .- With ref erence to the report that he is take the personal command of nerican expedition which is to be nt to Porto Rico, Gen. Miles said tothat the matter of his future ements was in this respect too inefinite to discuss. "I expect to go to oth Porto Rico and Cuba at some ime, but I cannot now say when."

PREPARED FOR TROUBLE. NEW YORK, June 19 .- A special capture of Santiago may turn out to be easier than was expected, but the preparations have been made upon the assumption that the Spanish will make a resistance equal to that which would be made by the same number of Ameri-can troops holding a like position. But the Spanish will be weaker than Gen. Shafter and the feet combined, while late reports about the activity and effilate reports about the activity and effi-ciency of the insurgents lead army men to hope that their assistance will be of some value."

GOSSIP ABOUT SHAFTER.

NEW YORK, June 19.—A Washington special to the Times says that there is not much anxiety here con-cerning Gen. Shafter and his army there is a universal desire to hear of his arrival and of his successful landarrival and of his successful land-Army and navy men agree in opinion that if the army reaches tiago or the point at which it is mided to land it before Monday or a Tuesday, it will have done very ended to land it before monday en Tuesday, it will have done very ell. The transports would not sail at gh speed, some of them may have een detained, and as the fieet would sep together in order to afford the owest ships the benefit of convoy, is conceivable that the expedition
ight not reach Santiago until tomorow or next day.
Gen. Shafter was rather expected to run ahead of the fieet and troops, and to arrive at Santiago or Guantanamo somewhat before the other vessels, taking the risk, which is not regarded as great, of meeting with vessels, taking the risk, which is not regarded as great, of meeting with Spanish cruisers. The assumption by naval officers is that any danger of that kind would be greatly reduced by sending one of the convoy vessels along with the Segurcania as a guard for the commanding general.

One officer of the army, who has seen a great deal of service and who has a high opinion of the ability of the United States army, expressed the opinion that the campaign against Santiago will be a short one, and that it will not be superior fighting ability alone that will give the victory to the men under Gen. Shafter. Although the United States forces are not all proposity of the receiver the men and the receiver the men and the content of the conte men under Gen. Shafter. Although the United States forces are not all properly clad. most of the men have good shoes, all have plenty of food and they have medical attention.

The case is quite different with the Spanish soldiers. Their commissary is bad, owing to the indifference of the officers to the welfare of the men for whom they make no sacrifices. Except in garrison unusually well taken carecf, the hospital service is inadequatel, and to that indifference is to be attributed the great mortality of the Spanish troops. This officer said the same conditions are found in districts, where Spanish military habits are followed. Spanish military habits are followed. The United States forces wil be superior, as much for the reason that they are fed and paid, as for their greater energy as a race.

The War Department still keeps secret the exact point of the landing of military expedition to Santiago. It be at the first harbor, and it may be at the last. Some suggest that there is reason to believe that both east and west approaches may be made. The early reports from Gen. Shafter, following his landing and observation of the situation, are expected to give the department an idea of the probable duration of the campaign. That information will also instruct the department as to whether here are the second of the compaign. formation will also instruct the department as to whether plans already adopted provide a sufficient number of men to do the work. If not, a sufficient number, whatever it may be, will be hurried forward to assure complete success at the earliest possible time.

The notable incident on her way down was the overhauling of a Norwegian steamer, the name of which had been painted out. The officers of the Alexander suspected that she was a Spaniard, and Commander Burwell sent a lieutenant to board her. One of the Alexander's boats was capsized in the rough sea and lost, but the men who were tumbled into the water by the overturning of the boat were rescued.

During the excitement of speaking her, Commander Burweil's son Willie, 15 years old, who is said to be the youngest volunteer in the navy, repeatedly exclaimed to his father: "Oh, I do hope it is a Spaniard." The crew of the Alexander were spoiling for a fight, but if Willie's wish had been fulfilled, it would probably have taken only a few minutes to capture them, as the ship's whole armament consisted of two 3-inch guns.

In thirty-eight minutes the order was given to cease firing, and the message went to each ship from the admiral: 'Well done," and the officers and me turned in for breakfast. Every detail of the engagement had been executed to the letter, from the opening of fire by the New York to the last shot from the Iowa. The Spaniards were evidently surprised while strengthening their fortifications. The first shot of the New York landed full and fair on the top of the hills to the east where the gunners were already at work erecting new pieces. The earth seemed to rise in a cloud, and when the 12-inch shells of the Iowa and the 13-inch beauties of the Oregon landed squarely and fairly, a great cheer went up from the ships.

The western squadron got into line and began firing before the eastern one did, and the effect of the shots could be plainly seen. ### A LIVELY WEEK.

LANDINGS SOHULD BE MADE AT MANILA AND SANTIAGO.

The Insurgents in Cuba Are Making Wildman and His Promises Support.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.] WASHINGTON, June 19 .- [Exclusive Dispatch. 1 The week which opened to day promises to be the most active in the history of the war. United States troops should land early upon Cuba and the Philippine Islands, and in both cases it is believed here that there will be little effective resistance offered to Gens. Shafter and Ander son. Santiago will be in the hands of the expedition sent from Tampa, it is believed, within four or five days; for the insurgents are now making the most effective campaign they have as yet attempted, and probably have by this time complete control of the point selected for the debarkation of the

This was contemplated when Gen Miles had a million rounds of ammu nition and several hundred thousand cartridges conveyed to Garcia, with the intimation that the success of the Cubans holding the debarkation point would be the gauge of their availability as allies. It is known that Gen. Shafter puts little dependence in the fighting qualities of the Cubans, and those who saw him before leaving Tampa say there will be a question of two flags flying side by side, but that Shafter will make a fast, hard campaign and endeavor to catch the Spanish before they have further time to

On the other side of the world there s admittedly a serious condition of affairs. While the naval administration will not believe for a moment that Camara will attempt to take his fleet through the Suez Canal to Manila, Aguinaldo is thought to be a hard nut crack, in the absence of details of understanding between Dewey and the Philippine leader. That Manila will surrender to Gen. Anderson during the week is regarded as certain. There s fear in some quarters that Consul Wildman perhaps has made too many promises of support which will embarrass Gen. Anderson now and Gen. Merritt later.

The President has expressed to callers within a few days a feeling of anxiety over the conditions in the East, and it is regarded probable that Gen. with the next expedition. The war oard has figured out that Camara will turn up soon at the Canaries, and there is a belief that he will then attempt to descend upon the North Atlantic Coast cities. The navy is ready to to sail at short notice to oppose the Spaniards, and a reserve squadron of lighting capacity to serve as coast guards. Should the flying squadron not fall in with the Spanish it will go to the Canaries seeking him. Reports of many defects in Camara's ships have been verified to the satisfaction of the naval heads, and there will be no corrying over the outcome

Gen. Miles spent today in his office going over inspection of reports and making up a list of the most available after Shafter's reinforcements have been forwarded. It is now probable that 10,000 men will go to Santiago as reinforcements, thus insuring victory and proper care of the city should the fight exhaust the troops which were first dispatched.

MINISTER AUNON TALKS. [BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LONDON, June 20 .- [Exclusive Dispatch.] The Morning Post's correspondent from Cadiz says that the real object of Minister of Marine Aunon's visit to the Cadiz fleet was not so nuch the wish to witness its departure as to be present at the trials of a new rocket for naval warfare. The nature of this projectile is such that it appears that if exploded near an ironlad, so great is the displacement of water that the vessel is at once en-

The correspondent was fortunate enough to have a few minues' conversation with Minister Aunon, who said among other things, that he had no doubt whatever that the Santiago forts were in condition to repulse further attacks by Sampson's squadron. "There are plenty of Spanish troops there, well equipped and provision Speaking of the Philippine affair, Aunon said it ought to serve Spain as lesson for its future guidance. Lack of foresight had cost his dear. What had occurred clearly proved that Spain must increase her naval force. Asked if he intended sending new vessels to Manila, the Minister replied:

"I am determined to do so, despite" hose who assert with an air of conviction, that such a step would be entirely useless. Notwithstanding the telegrams which declare the whole country around Manila up in arms, I can assure you the insurrection is confined to a limited area. Asked if, in view of the speed of Cervera's squadron, the Spanish fleet could not by some smart maneuver. elude the vigilance of the Americans and make its escape from Santiago, the Minister replied: "In naval warfare the most unlikely things are possible. I am convinced that Cervera will take advantage of the first opportunity which presents itself of exchanging compliments with the Amercans. NAMES OF THE SUCCESSFUL

CALIFORNIA HAS THREE ON THE ROLL OF HONOR.

Camp Thomas Takes a Day of Rest Private Kills Himself-Recruits From Oregon-Fourth Ma-

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, June 19 .- [Exclusive Dispatch] Notification of selections for second lieutenants in the regular army yill go out unporrow morning to 195 young men from the various States.
The list is truly remarkable from the fact that it comprises honor graduates from every State college, and almost every man has received a degree, of at least has had a portion of a college at least has had a portion of a college education. This leans not only to nationalizing the army to a degree which cannot be reached when the graduates of West Point alone are given commissions, but as well grafting upon the service many good points of training from all varieties of universities.

Three places are given to California. The list is headed by C. R. Lloyd of Santa Ana, who, as told in the Chronicle left Yale to enlist as a private in cle, left Yale to enlist as a private in a battery of Connecticut volunteers. He made such a good impression on Senator Perkins when he came here, that he was immediately selected. George William Bauer was honor graduate from the University of California in 1896, and James Malcolm Graham is color sergeant of the Cadet Company of the Event Inforty. Pregnent of Cal of the First Infantry, Regiment of Cal Both had the backing of the entire California delegation.

In the case of William H. Jordan, Co.

H, Second Oregon Regiment, the man will be examined in Manila, and should he pass when confirmed by the Senate, will be given a commission and place by Gen. Merritt. Adjt.-Gen. Corbin said definitely that Gen. Merritt would go to Manila next week.

THE LIST.
[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, June 19 .- At a late hour tonight Adjt.-Gen. Corbin made public the names of the 195 young men who have been selected for appointment as second lieutenants in the regular army to fill the vacancies created by the act of Congress adopting the three-battalion organization of infantry and the addition of one second lieutenant to all batteries when filled to war strength. Each of the 195 men selected will be obliged to undergo an examination that will be a thorough test of his mental and physical qualifi-cations for the army. Those who pass the examination will be named by the President to the Senate.

To the selection of the men both the President and Secretary of War have devoted time and consideration. Out of the 195 appointed eighty-nine are known to be college graduates, five of known to be college graduates, five of them honor men of their classes, of colleges having military instructors, in all representing sixty-seven different institutions. Forty-eight are now in the volunteer or military service, and thirteen are enlisted men in the regular

[ASSCCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 19.—Gov. Budd states that in forming the new regiment of California volunteers required under the President's second call, he will probably aggregate twelve individual companies. The companies of the old National Guard to be called on will be companies drawn from sections of the State which have not been permitted to turnish volunteers under the previous call. San Francisco, Los Angeles and Sacramento, the homes of the First, Seventh and Sixth regiments, N.G.C., now in the United States service, will not be this time invited to contribute men for California's quota.

The forthcoming call will be extended to some independent militia companies, but chiefly to companies of the National Guard from the Second and Fifth regiments. Col. Park Henshaw of Chico will probably command the regiment, and Capt. Frank de Carrington of the regular army will be lieutenant-colonel. Col. Fred Burgin of the Governor's staff is likely to be appointed major of one of the newlyformed battalions.

Capt. Carrington reported tonight that the work of mustering in recruits for the First and Seventh regiments is about completed.

THE FOURTH FLEET.

THE FOURTH FLEET.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]
SAN FRANCISCO, June 19.—The SAN FRANCISCO, June 19.—The fourth fleet of transports to convey troops to Manha wil probably consist of the City of Puebla, due here on the 21st. from Puget Sound; the Peru, due on the 24th inst. from Hongkong; the Alameda, due here from Australia, and the Acapulco, now on the way from Panama, due on the 29th inst. They will be pressed into the service. If necessary. To this may be added the Northern Pacific Company's steamers Victoria and Olympia, now at Seattle. Both these vessels have been granted an American registry, and are therefore available as troop ships.

Combined, this fleet will accommodate all the groops that will be left at the camp, so that ships will only then be required for further drafts of soldiers.

A Beautiful Day of Rest-Recruits

Still Coming.
[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]
CHICKAMAUĞA NATIONAL PARK (Ga.,) June 19.—Today was an excep-ionally beautiful one at Camp Thomas, and a cool breeze, continuously astir, made park life a delight. It was significantly a day of rest among the soldiers. All drills were omitted, and the Sabbath was generally observed. In this respect the day was somewhat in contrast with many of its predeces sors. The chaplains of the various sors. The chaplains of the various regiments held services, and the Y.M.C.A. and evangelistic cohorts were actively at work. The reverence with which these were listened to and the general good order which prevailed among the camps were significant of the high moral tone which pervaded the entire army.

The soldiers were forbidden to congregate at points of amusement, and practically all remained in camp, with the exception of some who had permission to spend the day on Lookout Mountain.

The effect of Gen, Boynton and the mission to spend the day on Lookout Mountain.

The effect of Gen. Boynton and the Georgia authorities to restore order at Lytie, and rid the outskirts of the gambling houses, has been productive of good results. At Lytie today, all saloons and gambling houses were hermetically closed.

Six hundred recruits for various regiments arrived during the day, making a total for three days of nearly 1890. Until the 13,000 more have reached the park the daily arrivals promise to increase rapidly. Prominent among today's arrivals were the following: Brig.-Gen. Peter C. Hayes, Third Division First Army Corps; Brig.-Gen. J. P. Sanger, Sixth Army Corps, under Gen. Wilson; Maj. Clayton Parkhill, surgeon United States, First Division, First Army Corps. Maj. Parkhill has been assigned as surgeon in Gen. Merritt's camp and was to have gone to Manila according to first orders.

Manila according to first orders.

No orders were issued today, aside from the routine. Ordnance stores are being huried up, and the one supreme effort seems to be that of hastening the work of equipping the regiments. There is now no complaint whatever from any of the regiments about their rations. The hospital and ambulance service of each corps, under the plan adopted requires 88 medical officers, 114 hospital stewards and 800 men, a total of 1003. The bulk of these men will be recruited. Recruits can be enlisted tal of 1903. The bulk of these men will be recruited. Recruits can be enlisted in the same manner as any of the volunteers. It may be done at the towns where the recruiting officers are stationed. Dr. Gill of the National Red Cross has established a Red Cross station at the park.

Again the rumor was revived tonight that ten or afteen thousand of the best equipped troops at the park had been ordered to move, and that the first to go would leave Tuesday or Wednesday. The railroads have received orders to provide cars.

san Francisco, June 19.—The auxiliary cruisers at this port will be taken posesion of by the Naval Reserve tomorrow. The Iroquois went to Mare Island today. Her armament has arrived from the East, and as soon as it is placed in position the vessel will go into commission. She may be sent to Manila to relieve the McCullough as a dispatch boat. The other vessels of the auxiliary fleet will have their full complement of men in a few days, as orders have been lesued for all the naval militia to report for this duty. The revenue cutter Corwin, which has been in the dock of the Union Iron Works for several days, steamed up to Mare Island today and will be at once placed in commission. She is destined for San Diego for harbor defense. Her armament is to be greatly increased.

The British ships Belford and Lucipara have arrived from Newcastle with nearly six thousand tons of coal. Their cargoes are consigned to local firms, but are understood to have been purchased by the government, and will probably be discharged into the bunkers at the Mare Island navy yard.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 19.—Although disappointed, the Seventh Regiment of California Volunteers are not disheartened After the change in orders by which the regulars were substituted far_Col. Berry's regiment in the third expedition, Maj.-Gen. Otis said to Col. Berry: "I want your regiment to accompany me when I sail for Manila."

This means that the regiment will not be kept much longer in camp. Col. Berry will take charge of the recruits for the First California, as well as those for his own regiment. The recruits for the First will be encamped on the site of the Pennsylvania camp, and licked into shape as rapidly as possible. The Seventh recruits will be attached to the regiment and drilled with it until they have become properly amalgamated with the more seasoned soldiers. properly amalgar seasoned soldiers.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] TACOMA (Wash.,) June 19 .- The

Oriental steamship Olympia, arriving here today, brings China papers which accuse Admiral Montijo of cowardice at the battle of Manila.

A special correspondent of the Hong-kong Telegraph writes to his paper from Manila saying that the admiral did nothing more than flee from one vessel to the other during the engage-ment. He was among the first ashore, and almost before the battle was over was at his country villa, beyond the city. He had not even allowed his captains to know where the Cavite anchorage was mined, and this is given as a reason why some of the mines were exploded before the American ships approached them. They were exploded in order to give Spanish ves-sels a chance to cross the line. Col. San Miguel of the battery committed suicide when he found that the supply of ammunition was not what had been represented. Frauds had been committed which had disposed of the stock.

The Archbishop of Manila has issued a pastoral, in which he declares:

"Very soon the country will see an insurmountable barrier placed between you and your masters; there will be then for you no situation nor representation, nor can you even participate in the government of the towns. You will be reduced to a separate civil state, villified and degraded like misserable laborers, reduced to the condition of coolies and further to that of beasts or machines, supplied or fed by a handful of rice thrown in your faces as a daily allowance, simply to secure the fruits of your labor.

"This is not all. The worst is that you will see the ruin of your temples, or that they will be turned into Protestant chapels, where there is no altar. Oh, this is hare. God, virgin and all are gone, and the cross will have disappeared from your cemeteries, the crucifix from your cemeteries, the crucifix from your schools and the ministers of the true God who made you Christians through baptism."

A STRANGE BOX.

AN INFERNAL MACHINE FOR THE CHIEF OF POLICE.

picions Anarchistic Package Arrives From Ogden, Addressed 20 "Sheriff Russell"—The Detectives Open It and Find Only Candy.

Memories of the days when anarchlice Glass yesterday morning when he came to his office and examined his mail. A box strangely twined with yards of cord and addressed in hieroglyphics which few could decipher, lay on his roll-top desk. Detective Flammer was in the adjoining room, and the Chief called him into con-sultation. He had seen the suspiciouslooking box before the Cheif arrived, but had also hestitated to handle it familiarly or to investigate its contents. Therefore, when the Chief called him he looked appealing at him, as if to say, "Now, don't compel me to tion of him, but merely invited him to join him in opening the box. This was mitigating the matter somewhat, and the detective consented. The box was addressel in lead pencil: "To the falvoluminous twine, and then ripped open with his fingers the pasteboard covering. There was nothing there but candy—candy that none but young children eat—two letters and some colored paper on which there was writing, in that box that but a second before promised a sensation. The envelopes were addressed: "To de feller what came neer breaken de tray. In care of Sheriff Russell, Los Angeles Police Court, California." The envelopes were ostensibly printed for the "American Bakery, E. J. Harris, proprietor, 2484 Washington avenue, Ogden, Utah," where the package came from. voluminous twine, and then ripped Ogden, Utah," where the package came from.

Wrapped in a green-tinted piece of paper was a candy baby and a chocolate-candy pipe. To the baby was attached a piece of white paper with the words, "Here's Russell's baby," on it; the inscription on the pipe read: "Smoke up, old boy, smoke up." Then there were papers of various other tints, and candies of all the known hues, in each piece of paper being wrapped a few candies. All the notes were signed "Gabbering Goose," but it was only with the greatest difficulty that even the smallest word could be made out, so wretchedly wrste this unknown was. One note, addressed to "Russell," as, in fact, are all of them, read as follows:

"What is the process of same and the process of the page came."

read as follows:
"What is the price of oranges now?
Can that poor boy of an Orangeman have his mamma vet? Did she get well? Has her boy and the goat some-thing to eat now? I hope that boy and his mamma are all right. Good luck to them.

"THE GABBERING GOOSE." Another note read: "From the feller dat purty near drop the tray and all but break de dishes."

The wag seemed unable to keep up any one dialect through a sentence. any one dialect through a sentence. Some words were misspelled while others were very correctly spelled; some times he wrote a la Bowery, and then again pure English.

The detectives think the box was intended for Henry Russell, who was a jailer under Sheriff Gibson when the latter was in office, about six years ago. The supposition is that the person who hides his real name under the appelation of "the Gabbering Goose," was once perhaps in confinement in the County Jail while Mr. Russell was jailer there, and that the latter nicknamed him "Gabbering Goose."

All the evidence is in possession of Detective Bradish, who has it locked in his desk awaiting the person for whom it was intended, if he can so identify himself.

LAY UNBURIED TWENTY DAYS.

Unknown Corpse Found in a Los Coroner Campbell yesterday held an inquest at Los Neltos on the body of one-half mile from the railroad station day before yesteray. The body, badly decomposed, is thought to have laid where found for twenty days or more. The corpse is supposed to be that of an elderly Frenchman who begged his food and shelter about Los Neitos and adjacent villages. A witness at the inquest said the body resembled closely a mendicant known as Lewis, who had applied at his house for assistance at various times during the past month. The begger had complained of being sick, and the witness said it was noticeable that he suffered from consumption. A verdict was rendered that death resulted from natural causes. The unclaimed and untriended remains will be buried today in a pauper's grave. The body is that of a man 5 feet 9 inches in height and weighing about 150 pounds; age about 50 years, with dark complexion, side whiskers and workman's clothes.

The Green Bell Boy.

[Buffalo News:] "H-rr-dt." went the electric bell in the office of the Genesee Hotel.

"Bang!" went the desk gong.
Up went the green bell boy, who was black, to answer a summons from a lady in one of the upper-story rooms who was getting ready to go to a fancy dress ball.

There was a hurried door-crack interview, a white bare hand and arm reached out and deposited a shining coin in the dusky paim of the servant, who said "Yessum" several times, then gilded swiftly down the stairs, turned up somewhat breathless at the hotel drug store a few minutes later and approached the youth who serves sixty.

"No." said the drug clerk after du investigation, "we haven't any left. You might try the drug store down below the Tifft House.

Away went the bell boy, and before long he might have been seen once more climbing the stairs to the lady's room bearing a compact backage of a brick.

There was a knock at the door, creamy yellow color about the size the brick.

There was a knock at the door, "Did you get it?" asked a feminine voice from within.

"Yessum."

"How much was it?"

"A quart," replied the bell boy.

"Good heavens!" ejaculated the voice, and then the bare white arm and hand reached out again and there came the command, "Let me see it."

The package was transferred. An astonished giggle was promptly followed by a peal of hearty but musical laughter. "Why, you black goose," said the voice that had laughed, "take this and eat it yourself. I wanted 'cold cream."

Attempted Highway Robbery.

Arthur Goldberg, an employé of a Main-street clothing store, who lives at Main-street clothing store, who lives at Seventh and Hill streets, was held up by thugs night before last on Hill street, between Sixth and Seventh, within a few yards of his home. One of the highwaymen struck him with a sandbag on the forehead, over the left eye, cutting a deep gash nearly two inches long. As the sandbag descended on him, however, he yelled, and the robbers fied. Mr. Goldberg is not seriously hurt, and he lost nothing.

James Nesbit, said to be a waiter in a Main-street restaurant, was struck on the head with a ketchup bootle by a waitress in the restaurant at No. 115 a waitress in the restaurant at No. 115 West Second street last night. The wound is not a serious one. The waitress claims that Nesbit insulted her repeatedly, and that when she struck him he had called her a foul name.

Diseases Which Pain and Embarrass - Their Treatment and Cure.

To this important branch of medicine the English and German Expert Specialists give special attention. It demands for its thorough comprehension knowledge of all that appertains to the philosophy of a systematic medication, and a particular anatomical and pathological knowledge of the skin tex-ture. The face is the first part of the ody presenting, and while a clear skin of healthy color is much to be desired, we often meet people with pimples, blotches, spots, or acne (little black nodes), or other conditions very annoying to persons who regard beauty as of

One-half of all adult persons have a skin disease—the names, diagnosis, prognosis and cure of which are found in ponderous volumes, occupying years for the reading and study.

Skin diseases are an aberration of the skin from the standard of health, evidenced by an alteration in its appearance, qualities, sensibility, functions, and relations to the rest of the or ganism.

These successful doctors have made the above a special branch for twenty years, and have succeeded in curing many thousands and greatly helping many thousands more where the malady was more than skin deep, that reason to be scorned and avoided. Jesus never taught a weak and peevish withdrawal from life's responsibilities and pursuits. The world is God's world, and He meant His children to live in it, but He meant them to be larger than any circumstances in which they were placed.

"Jesus taught with intense earnestness the fatherhood of God, but He morticed in with its corollary the worship of man. The question, 'What doth it profit a man to gain the whole world morticed in with its corollary the worship of man. The question, 'What doth it profit a man to gain the whole world and forfeit his life?' is a pointed challenge to reason and common sense. If man is a child of God and heir to the eternities: If the world, with all its brilliancles, passeth away with the desire thereof, then, as a practical business proposition brought down to the level of the ordinary calculations of everyday transactions, the question carried, with it its own answer. He saw the children of the Eternal, the heir of all the ages, shriveiling up their manhood; he saw the nobler qualities of mind and heart growing atrophied from neglect; he saw men, rich in an incorruptible inheritance, trading foolishly their birthright for a mess of pottage with which they might glut the animal in them. Jesus does not set forth a choice of worlds nor does He imply it. It is a contrast of world over against man. The caution is not against gaining the world, but against gaining it at the expense of personal soul. There is to be a profit, but it is the man that is to evidence the increment of gain. A man is worth what he is. What he owns is only so much accumulated opportunity. It must be translated into character to have intrinsic value. For things can be raised to manhood power, and men can be reduced to lowest terms in the form of mere material."

Association Service.

THE service at the Young Women's Christian Association yesterday afternoon was led by Mrs. E. R. Smith. The exercises consisted of secred song, prayer and responsive readings. The music was furnished by readings. The music was furnished by the choir of the First Baptist Church, composed of the Misses Beattle and Ellis, Messrs. Hays and Bacon. Their selections included "Tm a Pilgrim," Lead, Kindly Light" and "Te Deum" by the choir, and a solo, "Come Unto Me, by Miss Beattle. Mrs. Smith's reading contained helpful thoughts on "The Secret of Peace."

The Resurrection.

DAVID WALK, in the Church of Christ on Eighth street, read Matthew's account of the resurrection, and announced it as the subject of his sermon. He said in part: "Jesus either did or did not rise from the dead One or the other of these "Jesus either did or did not rise from the dead. One or the other of these alternatives is true. That He was crucified, dead and buried, has never been called in question. The controversy between faith and infidelity turns upon the fact of the resurrection. If He came out of the tomb alive, then all predicated of Him is true; if not, then there is not one ray of hope resting upon any grave, or lighting the pathway of any human soul. The very best that can be done to discredit His resurrection was done the day He rose. Some of the guard came into the city and related the fact of the empty grave to the chief priests and others in authority. A bribery and corruption fund was at the disposal of these functionaries, and bribery and corruption fund was at the disposal of these functionaries, and handing a large sum to the legionaries, they thus instructed them: 'Say that His disciples came by night and stole Him away while we slept.' Of course, this was a transparent lie. If the guard were all asleep, which was an offense punishable with death, how could they know that the disciples came and stole the body? And if they did not steal it, what became of it? No one pretended to deny that the tomb was vacant. If the body was still there, it would have been the short and easy method to throw open the tomb to the public. But the body was gone, and the rulers knew it. Who /took it? The disciples could not, and the authorities would not. "But suppose that the enemies of disciples did steal the body. What followed? They spent their lives and all they had, and suffered martyrdom for proclaiming what they knew to be a lie!" But supposing that the enemies of "But supposing the processing the pro for proclaiming what they knew to be a lie!

"But supposing that the enemies of Jesus stole the body. What would have followed? Why, as soon as the disciples began to preach theæresurrection as the great and fundamental doctrine upon which the whole superstructure of Christianity was to rest, the body would have been instantly produced, and the tongues of the adherents of the Nazarene would have been silenced forever.

"It follows, therefore, that the evangelists' account of the resurrection is the only credible explanation of the empty tomb.

Life Problems,

Life Problems.

Rev. C. W. WENDTE preached at the Church of the Unity yesterday on "Life Problems; Whence "ame We?" Why Are We Here? Whither Io We Tend?" "Everywhere and in all times mankind is found supplicating an answer to these questions, asking for light on its path, a disclosure of the purpose of the creation and the will of the Creator, a solution of those prefound problems which can give it peace and strength for its earthly pillerimage. In vain the counsel of those who advise us to cease such inquiries and to confine our attention to the limmediate and practical concerns of our present existence. This is possible only to cold, prosaic and sluggish natures. It can never content imaginative, ardent minds, deeply impressed with the marvel and glory of the universe and the bewildering mysteries of the 'moral life of man — the course of inexplicable destiny, the obscurity attending man's emergence into being and his dread transit into the vast unknown; the creation of human affections and duties and the sundering by the inexorable and awfurevent of death. These give rise to the religious sentiment in man's breast, which is the endeavor to answer the problems of the spiritual life. And first, whence came the human creature, with the perplexing marvels of its physical organism, the greater wonders of its intellectual and moral nature?

Gaining the World.

YESTERDAY morning in the Los Angeles Theater, the church organization that has been temporarily known as the Fourth Congregational, formally adopted its permanent name as the "Church of the Covenant—Congregational," with a membership of nearly four hundred. Rev. Burt Estes Howard, the pastor, took his text from Mark vill, 35: "For what doth it profit a man to gain the whole world and forfeit his life?"

"It has been said by some one that Jesus discovered the individual. Whether this be true or not, He certainly discovered the value of man as man. The gospel is not an appeal to self-interest, but to the divinity that sleeps in each human heart. Jesus believed in the individual. He declared that a man is worth more than all things; but He does not insist nor imply that the world, the intricate relationship in which human life finds itself located, is evil in itself, and for that reason to be scorned and avoided. Jesus never taught a weak and peevish withdrawal from life's responsibilities and pursuits. The world is God's world, and He meant His children to live in it, but He meant them to be the materialist, who studies man from the side of his physical organization, has deed of his physical organization, the side of his physical organization, the side of his physical organization, and the brief duration of the materialist, who studies man from the side of his physical organization, and the brief duration of the materialist, who studies man from the side of his physical organization, and the brief duration of the materialist, who studies man from the side of his physical organization, and the brief duration of the side of his physical organization, and the brief duration of the materialist, who studies man from the side of his physical organization, and the brief duration of the side of his physical organization, and the brief duration of the materialist, who studies man from the side of his physical organization, and the brief duration of the materialist, who studies man from the side of his and sought to apply it to every department of his thought and faith and life. "I believe it contains infinite resources of strength, hope and joy for mankind, and is destined to supersede all other doctrines of the creative process. The second life question is, 'Why are we here?' Its answer is implied in the foregoing discussion of man's origin. As the offspring of God, man is endowed with His spirit for moral and spiritual ends. It is to develop our individual character; conscious of our divine essence to make of ourselves pure and holy beings in the spirit of the Christ, in the image of God. The man himself is the true end of life. But not for, or by, ourselves alone. 'Together is the divine injunction, as we press forward, each for all and all for each, to form a divinely-perfected order of society.

"The last query is, 'Whither do we forward, each for all and all for each, to form a divinely-perfected order of society.

"The last query is, 'Whither do we tend?' A blind scriptural faith no longer serves enlightened minds in answering this question. The Bible illustrates and confirms; it does not originate or absolutely assure the modern man's belief in immortality. But God sends each generation the truth in a form comprehensible to it. New proofs and assurances rise on our horizon as the old ones grow dim. Evolution furnishes a strong presumptive evidence in favor of individual immortality. The evolutionary process does not cesse when man's present form is attained, but its forces are now chiefly devoted to developing and perfecting man's mind, heart and character. This points quite conclusively to a continuance and higher use of these spiritual faculties in a life to come."

Christ in Christianity. REV. A. A. RICE, pastor of the Universalists, spoke on "Christ in Christianity," from John xvi, 7: "If

I do not go, the teacher will not come to you." He said in brief: "The tendency of some religionists to eliminate Christ from the religion of which He is the founder leads us to consider this subject, and to attempt to give the personal Christ His proper place in His own religion. In our text we conceive Jesus as saying, if I do not go away, If I do not meet death on the cross, if I fall in this last crucial test to stamp my individuality and perfect personality on the world, the teacher will not come to you, the spirft of truth will not be yours, and enthusiastic spiritual life will not exist. In other words, Christianity as a system of truth, can have no effective existence without the personal Christ. Christians, and especially those who accept Christian truth though they would forget the Lord who gave it to the world, must accept this word of Jesus that, without Him personally His truth cannot live. The great Tallyrand committed no error when he told the infidel who asked him why infidelity prevalled so little against the influence of Christ. "Go and be crucified and raise yourself the third day, and you will know why you cannot overthrow Christianity." Christianity cannot be separated from the individual who perfectly lived it. It is said, but we meet the saying with some limitation, that all the truth spoken by Jesus was spoken before His time, and yet men did not live that truth. Why? Because it lacked the individuality of one who "lived the precepts that he taught." In order that men may be brought to full, holy, spiritual life, Jesus, as the embodiment of His truth, is necessary. I do not go, the teacher will not come to you." He said in brief: "The bodiment of His truth, is necessary The mind and heart of man are completely touched only when truth is brought to its personal relations in a perfect being.

spoke on the above subject of "Bad Bargains" at the Pacific Gospel Union, using as a text Mark vili, 36-37: "For what shall it profit a man, if he shall gain the whole world, and lose his own soul? Or what shall a man give in exchange for his soul?"

Men are continually making bad bar-

give in exchange for his soul?"

Men are continually making bad bargains. Esau sold his birthright for a mess of pottage; for a momentary pleasure, men sacrifice honor, home, wife, children, and even wealth and position. It was a bad bargain when that sensualist listened to the first thought, took the first step. He exchanged the purity of nature, the tenderness of conscience, the honor of manhood, the health of body, the peace of mind, the hope of life, for what? Only disgrace, despair, remorse.

A thought: it is a little thing, but these little things are the elements of feilure or success. Human destiny is often changed by a single thought in a moment of time. It is a bad bargain to exchange careful consideration for impulsive action; to enter upon any scheme of deception; in business, court-ship, or matrimony. It is a bad bargain to enter any business where you can't take God. A never ending memory and a knowledge of the suffering His life has caused, will be all the material any saloonkeeper will need to produce a hell of torment. It is a bad bargain to enter business without God. It's a bad bargain to enter business without God. It's a bad bargain to exchange the heavenly for the earthly, the eternal for the things that perish with their using, for what shall it profit a man "if he gain the whole world and lose his own soul."

A THE Broadway Christian Church Pastor C. C. Bowen spoke upon "Law." taking for his text, Romans A Pastor C. C. Bowen spoke upon "Law," taking for his text, Romans vi, 14: "For ye are not under law, but under grace." "God, in creating man, so constituted him that he might be controlled by law. God provided the law by which that control is to be maintained. Therefore it behooves man to both know and obey that law. When the conditions of a people change the laws governing that people change the laws governing that people change acrordingly. In early California a man could sell real estate without the 5'g-nature of his wife. The men were here and the wives remained East. The conditions rendered this freedom of action necessary to the transaction of business. When the children of Israel were led out from Egypt their nonditions were changed, and they needed a new law to fit the new conditions. God gave it. We of this generation are not the children of Israel, therefore, we are not under the law or moses, and therefore a new law is necessary. God intends His children to weigh the testimony He gives. He has given us the evidences of Christ. H has given us the four gospels, greatevidence than that given the children of Israel. He has given us Christ' miracles. God gives us one book o naturalization laws—the Acts of the Apostles. I would like to say right her to those who have become members of any lodge, when you applied for membership you had to comply with the laws of the body you were joining. In becoming a citizen of a country you must comply with the naturalization laws of that country. No matter what your opinions were in the past; no matter what your opinions at the the present, you must comply with the laws of the land you would enter. We are not under the laws of Moses, but under the law of Christ, and under this law it requires that we believe, that we enlist, that Baccalaureate Sermon.

A N AUDIENCE that tested the capacity of the auditorium of the First Christian Church assembled yesterday morning to hear Rev. A. C. Smither's baccalaureate sermon to the graduates of the State Normal School. The class, numbering eighty, occupied prominent seats, and to it Mr. Smither addressed his sermon, taking as his text: "To this end was I born and for this cause came I into the world, that I should bear witness to the truth"—John xviii, 37. "This text refers primarily to the Son of God," said the speaker, "but the great principle contained in it is applicable to all—that of a mission in the world on the part of us all. All men are sent of God into the world for a purpose. Whether or not this purpose is carried out is dependent upon the will of man. What a different conception of life this is from that taught by the infidel, who answers the great questions of life by a negative: or the agnostic, whose a different conception of life this is from that taught by the infidel, who answers the great questions of life by a negative; or the agnostic, whose unvarying reply is, 'I do not know;' or the atheistic scientist, who defines life as the midway station between protoplasm and the Diety: or the materialist who believes himself to be a child of the dust, a brother of the beast and the heir of annihilation. How grateful the sons of man should be for such a wonderful origin! How our lives should be filled with worship! Not only is it declared that we are from God, but that we are sent into the world for a distinct purpose. This purpose may not always be comprehensible to us, or may not seem worthy of connection with a divine plan, but it is none the less true that we are cooperating with the divine for the nurpose of accomplishing God's will in our lives. This mission is twofold—that affecting us, or for our own benefit, and that relating to others, service rendered our fellow-men in their lives. For our own development and growth God is using the various agencies and instrumentalities of life.

"To some life is a battle, a conflict, a strife. Out of the struggle comes the strength; out of conflict comes power. To others life is a discipline. The great end sought is the purification of our character, the development of our natures. This may be wrought in the great end sought is the purification of our character, the development of our natures. This may be wrought in the crucible of pain; it may be accomplished by great suffering. The great characters of history have been fashioned out of sorrow and toils of adverse conditions. The greatest personal achievement of human life is character building. It alone is imperishable. A greater mission than that wrought upon ourselves is that for others. When we give out of our life and power to aid others we reach up after the Godlike. The sphere of the teacher is distinctly altruistic. Altruism is a key word for the wider, richer civilization of this age. What a solemn and tender task is imposed upon the teacher into whose hands is committed the plastic clay of human character to be fashioned into statuary more imperishable than marble. This is your mission in clay of human character to be fashioned into statuary more imperishable than marble. This is your mission in life, as defined for you by the circumstances of your lives and the dispensation of Providence. For a work so important the teacher needs great fitness. Your college training is completed. The fuller, better, completer education of the teacher is that of genuine personal character. The true power of the teacher is not in his ability to impart facts, but in his higher power of impressing his higher and better nature upon the student. Here is the great need in all teaching. This important qualification, can be acquired in no ther way so well as by an incorporation into your lives of the great basal principles of the religion of Jesus Christ. The greatest weakness of our public principles of the religion of Jesus Christ. The greatest weakness of our public school system is the lack of teaching along the line of Christian ethics. This lack should be supplied by the personal character of the teacher. By fully accomplishing your mission here you shall fill your own lives with the sweetest and choicest of blessings and will also be a blessing to your race and generation."

R EV. L. M. HARTLEY preached at Simpson Tabernacle yesterday morning, taking as his text, Matmorning, taking as his tat, Marthews vii, 29: "Take my yoke upon you and learn of Me, for I am meek and lowly, and ye shall find rest for your soul." He said, in part; "What is your heart like? What is my heart your soul." He said, in part; what is vour heart like? What is my heart like? Is it troubled and perturbed? It is easy to get rest for the weary body. But it is much more difficult to get rest for the weary mind or more wearied soul, for, like the troubled, restles sea, which casts up mire and dirt, the soul, weary, troubled and depressed, surges and vibrates beneath its load, and in this text for this we find a banacea. Men seek it in pleasure, they seek it in solitude, but there is no rest, save in Jesus Christ. What is the conditions of our coming? You will find rest by learning. There are three things to take. The yoke, the lesson and the burden. The yoke means stepping out of the self-life into the Christ-life. To live in Him for Him: burden. The yoke means stepping out of the self-life into the Christ-life. To live in Him for Him: to love His honor more than our own, and the yoke will be easy. There is a lesson to learn. Learn meekness and lowliness of the Master. Living and resting go together when we have learned how to live. Doing good is the burden we are to take upon us. So with the right yoke, and the lesson well learned and the burden well adjusted, we will find rest for our souls."

Preceding the sermon, Mrs. Moffeet sang a solo, accompanied by Miss Mattalee Loeb, on the cornet.

Man's Nature.

Man's Nature.

A T THE meeting at Universal Brotherhood Hall last evening Dr. G. F. Mohn lectured on "The Connection Between the Animal and God in Man," and said in part: "On the Delphic Oracle in Greece are inscribed the words. 'Man know thyself.' This has special significance, for the ancients well knew that if man, the microcosm, is well understood, the universe in its physical, psychic and spiritual aspects would be well known. This would embody all knowledge. Man's lower or personal nature, with all its powers and animal qualities, is connected with the soul by a soul-ray or bridge shot down into its consciousness, which makes the animal man an intellectual being.

"At the personal end of this bridge the soul qualities are prostituted to the servitude of the animal, while the soul, the voice of conscience, strives to draw the person toward the good, the true, the God within. It is thus that man evolves from lower to higher, god-like states. It is thus that Christs and sages are evolved."

Experience in a Restaurant. [New York Evening Sun:] A woman rominent in the social life of this city and Paris returned from the French apital last week. She gave the following account of her experiences in the atter part of her stay in France: About three weeks ago," she said, my husband, who is still in Paris, becan to notice the feeling against our countrymen.

"My husband wore a small American lag in his buttonhole the last time that saw him, although he had been hissed and hooted at for being so decorated whenever he appeared in a public place. It was walking down the Champs seized him by the lapel of his coat and leilberately spat upon the emblem of our country. He struck the Frenchman in the face, upon which a gendarme ran in and threatened to arrest my husband. The officer refused point blank to arrest the assailant, and told my husband that unless he immediately went about his business he would arrest him as a disorderly person.

"Americans are leaving Paris by the score, and in some instances the shop-keepers are already beginning to regret having been so hasty in offending their best customers. I usually make all my purchases of spring and summer clothing in Paris, but I bought only such things as were absolutely necessary while in France this season."

An American merchant who makes yearly trips to France, said that in all his journeyings he had never before experienced such treatment as he received during his last visit to Paris.

"Why, I would not live over the last week of my stay in Paris for a great deal of money," he said. "The crowds have apparently lost their heads. I sat one night in front of a cafe on the Boulevard Haussmann, which I have been in the habit of frequenting ever since I first went to Paris. Three Frenchmen came in and took seats at a table next to the one at which I was sitting. They laughed and joked for awhile, and then one of them caught sight of the little red, white and blue ribbon in by buttonhole.

"Each man turned toward his companions, and, pointing to the colors in my coat, sneered, at the same time commenting upon my nationality in a manner far from agreeable. I paid no atmenting upon my nationality in a manner far from agreeable. I paid no attention to these insults, however, contenting myself with merely turning my back, and reflecting that they were merely Frenchmen. The waiter who regularly attended me, and whom I had rewarded for his services in the past, finally approached me and said: I would advise you to leave, monsieur; there are some hot-blooded men here who I fear may do you some injury.' I looked over my shoulder in the direction of the door, and found that two of my insulters were standing at the door of the café engaged in conversation with several young men, evidently students. They looked from time to time in my direction, and were evidently students. They looked from time to time in my direction, and were evidently concecting some scheme of which I was to be the victim, and my humiliation the purpose. "I had about made up my mind to follow the waiter's advice and take my departure, when the group at the door approached the spot where I was sitting. One of the young men jostled me roughly as he passed, and another knocked off my hat while I was recovering my balance. I arose from my chair and started for the door, when a foot was thrust in front of me and I was tripped up, falling violently to the floor. I am a heavy man and the shock stunned me for a minute. I was thoroughly angered however, and as soon as I got on my feet I sprang upon the man who had been foremost in tormenting me. He was standing apart from 'companions and apparently ung and the shock stunned me for a minute. I struck him or the defensive, expecting a counter assault on his part. My expectations were not realized, however, for not only did he not attempt to return my blows, but with his companions as well, who were surprised at my attack upon their companions and sneaked out of the place. It is only fair to say, however, that my assailants were hardly more than boys. If they had been men possessed of the usual French nature I would probably have been fiercely attacked."

The merchant said th and of the trained man of science. In his day he had to play many parts, and in all of these he has been the shining illustration of what soundness of temperament and breadth of mind may achieve. He is a skilled mechanic, and a famed expert in the science of ordnance: he is a mathematician of a ship. He has been superintendent of a great school of learning, and has directed the construction of every type of modern gun.

He was brought up under sail, and he is an electrician of accepted reputation; he has reefed an angry topsail without splitting a rope yarn, and he has created a new and valuable formula in the highest mathematics.

He is deeply read in literature, and dexterious with the hammer and the

and has successfully organized and controlled labor. His knowledge is enclopedic and colorful, and he absorbs it without study, because he scorns nonessentials and has the gift of touching the vital point on first principles.
Above all he is human, though cool and analytical, and he governs as much by the affections as with the Above all he is human, though cool and analytical, and he governs as much by the affections as with the intellect.

This model officer, now so much in the public mind, was born in Palmyra, Wayne county, N. Y., of sound stock and worthy ancestry in 1841. He entered the Naval Academy at Annapolis in 1857, and after a full course, marked by unusual distinction, he was graduafted at the head of his class in 1861. He was ordered immediately into active service, receiving a commission as lieutenant in 1862, and four years later, when the war was over, the commission of lleutenant-commander.

Young as he was at this time—just five and twenty—his reputation for coolness, skill, interpidity and ability had been already made. He was often under fire, he had had several narrow escapes—but he came out of it all, with a fine record, and such a brilliant promise of future usefulness, that his growth in official and service appreciation was rapid. In 1874 he was promoted to commander, and by this time his special predilections for ordnance and gunnery had been wisely fostered, he forged rapidly to the front as one of the first experts in this country, and ultimately in the world. It is unnecessary in any brief enumeration of his unceasing work, to give the details of his various duties, for set down without their informing colors, they would be unjust in their inadequacy. He had active service afloat as executive officer of the Congress on a notable European cruise; he was a captain of ships; he saw much duty at and in connection with the Ordnance Bureau, and when the navy was recreated he was probably the most prominent officer particularly employed upon this essay. He commanded the San Francisco, when first commissioned, and by general acclaim she was the crack ship in a notable squadory, he was sweeten the will o' wisp through the peculiarly favorable conditions aiding him. But in the end, the cool, patient energy, the highly developed intelligence, the quick mind, the eager instinct, will be sure to conquer—and though his feat may be less brilliant than that of Dewey's, it will be no less rounded and sure.

THE WINSLOW'S PARROT.

[New York Journal:] The torpedo Winslow, on board of which five men were killed in the recent fight at Car-lenas, has a broken-hearted parrot. It is a dignified and altogether disci parrot. It has yellow eyes and a long memory. It has a vecabulary, both civil and profane, beyond the capacity of any other parrot on the high seas,

The heart of the old green bird was set upon Jack Tunnelle, a humble member of the crew. It ignored gold lace and epaulets, and clung to Jack's set upon Jack Tunnelle, a humble member of the crew. It ignored gold lace and epaulets, and clung to Jack's grimy finger with the tenacity of great effection. Tid-bits were never so good as when they came from Jack's horny hand. The sailors had taught it to say a great many things that were funny, and some that were rude. It could say, "Let'er go," "Where are we at?" Give 'em hell" and "Poor Jack," and when unusually appreciative it could say, "That was a a peach," besides many other phrases.

It does not say these things any more, because it is a broken-hearted bird. I saw it on board the shattered Winslow yesterday afternoon. Its golden eyes were rumpled, and it had a general down-at-the-heel air. When offered a banana it reached out its two-toed foot and took it with grave and silent courtesy, but dropped it immediately, with a hollow croak. Polly was a different bird that day in Cardenas Harbor. She was bright and placid and quiet, after the fashion of well-disposed parrots. Along the warm sea winds, breathing through the Wilming-ton's megaphone: "Get in there and cut that Spanish gunboat out!"

"Aye, aye, sir," went the answer from Bernadou.

The parrot heard the loud talking and speculated upon it. It heard the engines drive ahead at full speed. It could hear the green seas fizzing like champagne against the boat's quarters. It heard the rattle of hurrying footsteps, the sound of the commander's voice. It could see the stern, brown faces of its friends, the sailors, filt-ting along the deek. Then came the toil of a single, long-tongued gun—the beginning of the battle.

"Ow! Wow!" shrieked the parrot. "Cracker! Cracker! We're in it!"

Then came another shot, and yet another. The parrot increased its uproar. "Br-r-r! Whoop! Whee!" it screamd. "That's a peach. Where's Jack!" Where's Jack! Poor Jack!"

Jack!"
"Bang!" came a shell squarely against the Winslow's conning tower. The steel hull of the boat rang under the impact like a great bell. The parrot heard the thump of falling bodies. The Winslow's little rapid-fire guns were spitting and snarling like a litter of wild cats.
"Screech! Sche—e—e! Oh, Jack! Give Sche—e-e! Oh, Jack! Give 'em hell! Give 'em—give 'em—let' go. Where are we at? Poor Jack!" Then Jack Tunnelle came to the tle hatchway and paused with his feet on the top step.

"Smash!" came a 4-inch shell into some gloves. The woman whom she addressed looked at her scornfully said:

"We do not serve Americans."

A Mariner of Many Parts...

[Criterion:] Years ago Raleigh declared that "a good mariner ought to have all knowledge of carnal and worldly cunning that may turn his hand to anything that may hap." And since his day most of the great sea captains have been men such as he sought in his many perilous enterprises.

An hour later Tunnelle was dead. The parrot has not spoken since.

Entitled Him to No Sympathy. [Chicago Times-Herald:] Three men were standing in front of the postoffice and to them came a fourth. One of the three did not know the new-comer and stepped aside slightly, but he overheard the conversation.

"Well, John, how's things?"

"Poor; very poor. I haven't had a thing to do for three weeks."

"Is that so?"

"Sure. If this streak of bad luck keeps up I'll have to go out of the business."

keeps up I'll have to go out of the business."

Instead of commiserating, the other two men grinned, and one said in an unfeeling tone:

"I don't care if you never have work."

John shook his head sadly and passed on.

The listener was shocked. He had never heard anything so bluntly cruel, In a few moments he expressed his feelings somewhat warmly.

"He seems like an honest fellow and deserves encouragment," he concluded. Both men laughed heartily.

"Well," said one at length, "if you want to give him a job, you're welcome. He is an undertaker."

OUR PATRIOTIC NUMBER.

The great and glorious Fourth of July will be celebrated in Los Angeles this year as never before in the history of this metropolis, and as a souvenir of the occasion, and in view of the great events through which our nation is now passing, The Times will issue in beautiful illuminated covers on July 5 a great Patriotic Special Number, covering with picture and letter press the entire programme.

THE TIMES-MIRROR COMPANY. THE WAR SITUATION

Below are summarized the more important events of yesterday in connection with the war situation:

Spanish Gen. Joral and several officers killed by gun cotton from the Vesuvius. Terrible destruction was wrought among the fortifications.

Spanish flag over Moro Castle at Santiago half-masted for several hours for unknown causes.

People of Caimanera prepared to save their town from Americans by burning it.

Admiral Sampson reconnoiters the shere to find landing places for Shafter's forces. The expedition has a sharp engagement with the enemy.

Auxiliary cruisers at San Francisco to be taken charge of by the Naval Reserves.

Present week promises to be the liveliest of the war. Madrid advices say Shafter has landed and will attack Santiago immediately. One hundred and ninety-five second lieutenants appointed, including three Californians.

The United States has pledged itself, so far as Congress can pledge the nation, not to annex Cuba. Cuba will be free from Spanish dominion, and then as soon as the people are competent to establish a suitable government for themselves, they will have a chance to do so. Let us hope they will show a capacity for the task. It is, however, believed by many that, even under these circumstances, Cuba will soon become thoroughly Americanized, and in course of time may become an integral part of the United States. It is pointed out that less than 1,000,000 emigrants from this country would give Americans control of the island government; that is, supposing that the franchise is not restricted to native-born Cubans, which will scarcely be done, as such a system would be far less demacratic than that which obtains in the United States. Discussing this ques-

"The United States is bound not to conquer Cuba and hold it as a deency or admit it as a State, but it may be urged that the American gov ernment is not bound to refuse to admit the island if a separate and independent government, established after the war, should ask for admisdon. It is easy to understand why a Cuban government should desire to be incorporated into the United States. In 1893 the United States imported Or 1893 the United States imported Cuban products to the amount of $78,706,506. With Cuba an independent nation, most of the products would be subject to duty. For many years to come sugar will be a source of American revenue, not so much for the revenue as to protect the beetsugar industry in the United States. In fact, Cuba, prosperous under the industrial direction of Americans, would supply the United States with a large part of the sugar it would import. Will not the American sugar-planters in Cuba be likely to so shape the politics of the island as to avoid paying this duty?"

tion, the San Francisco Bulletin says:

Four miles below Broder's cabin we left the Little Kern, and went in a southeast-However, all such discussion is premature at this time. First, let us free Cuba from the Spanish, and then it will be time to talk about the future

If the Spaniards at Santiage de Cubs are on half rations, what sort of rations are Hobson and his brave have caused this transformation? The mystery was soon unraveled as we met a large band of sheep. We put spurs to our animals, to hurry through the haunt of the 'hoofed locust.' Meadow after meadow was passed, but not a vestige of food; all trodden out. Wherever sheep are driven, devastation prevails.'

The damage done by these bands of sheep is not confined to the destruction of herbage and consequent flooding of the country during the winter rains. The sheep also pollute the water which is used by resident in the lower country.

B. F. Allen, the government agent having charge of the forest reservations in this section, is an active and conscientious official, and has been doing his best to minimize this evil. but has many obstacles to contend with. In consequence of the dry season, great pressure was brought to bear upon the government, through the California delegation at Washingto for permission to graze sheep within the government reservation. It should be noted that this pressure came from north of the Tehachepi, where the elfects of sheep-grazing in the moun tains is not so serious upon the lower country. On the other hand, residents of the southern counties, out side of the few sheep men, are practically unanimous against the open-ing of the reservations to sheep. Mr. Allen states that the sheep men now in the Bear Valley section have no permission to be there. Early in ranges, whence the supply of water March he received a dispatch from the department at Washington as foifows: "Replying to the telegrams of matter has transformed many sections yours and Senator White, you are authorized in the present emergency to permit sheep to be driven to the lands of parties holding such lands within forest reservations, under the best ravages of sheep, which for years have regulations you can devise to minimize the damage, guarding especially against fire. I shall depend upon the land-owners to cooperate with you in

> Several sheep men thereupon leased large tracts belonging to railroads and private parties within the reservations and drove their sheer in. Meantime numerous protests had been sent to Washington, from citizens of San Bernardino county, against the opening of reservations to sheep, whereupon the Secretary instructed Mr. Allen that such opening should be confined to the section north of the Tehachepi. Meantime, however, the damage had been done, and Mr. Allen had no power to get the sheep out. The force at his command has been absurdly inadequate for any practical good, there being only himself and two assistants to guard the immense tracts of forest reservations extending from south of San Bernardino to the central part of the State. As it is, he succeeded recently in removing a large band of sheep which had been driven into the new Zaca Lake reservation, north of Los Angeles. By the first of next month, an appropriation will be available for this work, with which Mr. Allen will be to employ a larger force, and he will then proceed against these intruders in earnest, in which action he will be strongly backed up by the people of Southern California, who have so much at stake in this matter. It is absurd to suppose that the interests of half a dozen sheep men should be permitted to jeopardize industries which produce millions of dollars annually, and, in addition to this, to work injury to the forest lands in Southern California which it may take half a generation to repair.

If Uncle Sam wants a rendezvous for the new California regiment in just the right place he should select the neighborhood of Los Angeles. There are neither raw winds, pneunonia, fleas nor calico-wearing pests in these parts to harass the soldiery; and as for a drill ground and drill weather, we can beat the world for both. Our Chamber of Commerce and other organizations might do a stroke of business by suggesting that this is not only a superb country in which to lick recruits into shape, but that Uncle Collis has an elegant wharf from which troops can embark for Manila or any other seaport, with neatness and dispatch. While the pie is bein, passed around let Los Angeles have

We sincerely trust it is true that Emperor William of Germany is not unfriendly to this country, but if he isn't he ought to hammer the fact into the heads of the officers of his navy that their open and avowed friendliness for the Spanish sailors is likely to succeed in getting them elves and their boss seriously disliked The getting gavness of the German naval men at Manila has been so pronounced as to attract the attention of the world, and we respectfully submit that if there is no animosity to Americans in that quarter, the German officers ought to take in their sign and withdraw themselves from a position that looks infernally suspicious. The San Francisco Evening Post sheds large and salty tears at the mere idea that Southern California can have a candidate for Governor, and also a candidate for United States Senator That publication professes to see great iniquity in the south's having one of the two Senators and the Governor also. It thinks the north should continue to have the Governorship and one Senator. In other words, it is perfectly fair and equitable for the northern part of the State to have two of the three offices right along, but for the south to ask for more than one is unfair and selfish. The logic of this position is so apparent that comment is hardly necessary.

There can be little doubt that the Newlands resolution, providing for the annexation of Hawaii, will be adopted by the Senatc. The debate will begin this morning, but as the friends of annexation have agreed to let its op conents do all the talking, the de bate will not be protracted. It is possible, though not probable, that a vote may be reached this week. It is almost certain to be reached inside of ten days. It will be well to have htis vexatious question settled, once and for all. Let us hope that the decision in favor of annexation will be

One or two of Bre'r Sampson's aux iliary cruisers, or almost any old thing in the shape of a gunboat would seem to be needed in the vicinity of Batabano, on the south shore of Cuba, opposite Havana. It is stated that the dons are sneaking in supplies et that point in the night-also in small boats. This will never do. The blockade must be made effective.

The fellows who have been trying to make out that there was war be tween Gen. Miles and the President will have to guess again. Both the President and Gen. Miles are at the present time engaged in conducting war of a very different nature

If Camara's phantom fleet ever me terializes on this side of the drink t will run up against something that will give it a severe jolt. Our new fly ing squadron has not been organized exclusively for the health of Commodore Schley and his jackles.

And now it is reported that that phantom fleet of Camara's going to Manila. If it should do so, one George Dewey will be there to receive it, and will promptly proceed to make a really and truly phantom fleet out of it.

We are not surprised to learn that Uncle Collis wants to take $1,000,000 worth of the new bonds. They will be worth a premium the day after he gets one of his tentacles onto them.

Our Seventh Regiment appears to be having about as much trouble in getting off to Manila as that fleet of transports did in pulling out from the wharf at Tampa.

It begins to look as if young Alonso, in addition to feeling around to see if his crown is on straight, is likely to be feeling presently to see if it is on at all.

If that phantom fleet shows up anywhere it is likely to get shot at as many another uncanny spook has been

Whole-souled Loyalty.

[San Francisco Call:] Wholeloyalty is the phrase used by the Bos-ton Journal to express its judgment of the action of the Chamber of Com-merce of this city in refusing to protest against the dispatch of the Mon-terey and Monadnock to Manila. Nor does it stand alone in this opinion Nothing done in San Francisco of re cent years has been so warmly ar plauded throughout the country as the spirited reply sent by our merchants to Senator Perkins on that occasion. The Philadelphia Record quoting the words of the Chamber of Com-merce, "San Francisco will hold noth-ing back from the administration even to her own jeopardy," says: "There was more than patriotism in this re-clinder; there was the proud, self-reliant California spirit—a spirit closely akin to that possessed by Dewey himself. Whatever may be said of the Senator's suggestion, there can be nothing but admiration for the can be nothing but admiration for the statesmenship of his constituency."

The Boston Journal devotes to the subject a long, elaborate and highly laudatory editorial. It declares "the people of San Francisco are nothing if not patriotic," and after giving a statement of the occasion which called forth the reply of the Chamber of Commerce and a summary of the document itself, adds: "This is whole-souled loyalty which will delight Admiral Dewey and his men, and bring cheer to the hard-worked government at Washington."

It is gratifying to receive these encomiums from influential papers in the East and to be conscious they are not mere flatteries

Hundred Thousand Dollars Worth of Business Property Destroyed at Albuquerque

GRANT'S OPERAHOUSE BURNED.

SLEEPING CIGAR DEALER HAS NARROW ESCAPE,

Park City, Utah, the Scene of Tracy, Cal., Gasoline Makes a Bonfire.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.] ALBUQUERQUE (N. M.,) June 19. Exclusive Dispatch.] The largest fire in the history of Albuquerque occurred stroyed in the neighborhood of $200,000 worth of property. The fire started either in the dressing-room or underneath the stage of A. A. Grant's operahouse, and presumably from a defective electric light wire, although some believe that it was the work of an incendiary. The volunteer fire department responded early, but there was a lack of water pressure, and it was soon seen that the mposing structure was doomed.

The building, two and a half stories high, covered a space 100x142 feet. The upper floor contained the auditorium banquet hall, and a number of offices occupied by lawyers, insurance agents and physicians. Most of these office equipments were saved, but badly damaged by removal. Ilfeld Bros., the largest general dry goods and clothing merchants in New Mexico, occupied four stores, or the entire lower They carried a stock valued at $150,000, on which there will be comparatively small salvage. Their insurance amounts to $102,000, as only three weeks ago they reduced the amount $18,000 rom $120,000.

The building belonged to A. A. Grant well-known San Francisco and Los Angeles capitalist and railroad builder and was valued at $65,000. There is an insurance of $25,000 on the building and an addition valued at $10,000, which latter was saved. The operahouse was losed Thursday last for the season, and Friday it was given a thorough clean-

Collier & Marron, lawyers, carried an insurance of $2000, which more than overs their loss. E. V. Chavez and Donaciano Chavez, lawyers; Dr. Henry, J. M. Moore and Henry Lockhart, insurance and real estate agents were among the small losers. D. J. Abel, cigar dealer, had a room in the operahouse, and was asleep when the fire started. He narrowly escaped from the building with his life.

Mr. Grant, the owner of the building, is the publisher of the Morning Democrap and the owner of the waterworks, electric light and gas plants and other enterprises of this city. He is at pres ent in Sun Francisco, and his local manager, L. A. McCrea, has wired him the facts about the big fire. Tracy, Cal., Is Without a Busines Part of Town. [ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

TRACY, June 19 .- The entire business portion of this place, which con-sisted of three blocks of closely-conbuildings, was destroyed by fire
The loss is over $86,000, and surance is less than half that

The conflagration was started just before noon by the explosion of a gas-oline stove in a restaurant recently started by Mrs. Mary Mann, in a fram building adjoining the postoffice, and the wind, which was blowing a heavy gale from the northwest, drove the gale from the northwest, drove the flames toward the business portion of the town. So fierce was the blaze that two Southern Pacific engines, which were put to work on the fire made no perceptible headway. The town is en-tirely without fire-fighting facilities, but the citizens turned out en masse and fought the flames as best they could.

and fought the flames as best they could.

The first two blocks which were burned, faced the main street in a sort of half circle, the third block being built on a different line. After devouring the buildings where it started, the fire destroyed the Commercial Hotel, Maroon's saloon, G. Buschke's building, occupied as a general merchandise store; the Arlington Hotel, and Fabian & Co.'s general merchandise store, in the order named.

The flames then jumped across the street, levelling the Tracy Hotel, the San Joaquin Hotel, Buddworth's merchandise store, Ludwig's saloon and residence, the new Odd Fellows' brick building. Canale Bros.' store; two unoccupied buildings and the residence of Mrs. Byrnes.

MILLION-DOLLAR FIRE.

Park City, Utah, Loses Its Entire Business Portion.
[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] SALT LAKE, June 19.—A special to the Tribune from Park City, Utah, says the entire business portion of Park City on Main street, excepting a few ness houses on the upper end of the street, burned to the ground this morn-ing. The fire started about 4 o'clock in th Ameican Hotel, and was fan th Ameican Hotel, and was fanned by a south wind, which swept the entire street. Park City's business portion is now a mass of ruins. The damage is probably close to $1,000,000.

The fire was gotten under control at $1.30 a.m. At $0 c'clock it reached the lower end of Main street, and was cut off from Kimball's barn and the Union Pacific depot by blowing up houses. The last building burned, at 10 a.m., was the Crescent Concentrator on East and south of Union Pacific depot. The only store left is that of Welch, Driscoll & Buck. Every drug store, butcher shop, hotel and all but three saloons ourned to the ground. Both the Park Operahouse and the new A.O.U.W. building with the new Grand Operahouse, were entirely destroyed. The Marasac Mill was only saved by hard work. The City Hall, both bank buildings, the postoffice and telephone exchange are gone. Many people are left homeless, having nothing but their lothes. The wind carried the flames in sheets, until the whole center 'of Park City is destoyed.

The situation at 6 p.m. is that the whole city, from the American House, where the fire started, to the Union Facific depot (which was saved,) is burned on both sides of the street. The whole is a blackened, smoking ruin, with the fire staryed.

Appeals for help were addressed to Salt Lake and to Ogden, and at 9:16 o'clock a squad from Salt Lake's fire department arrived. Following them was a troop from the Ogden fire department. The fire at the time had reached the Crescent Concentrator, northern extremity of its course, which fell with a deafening crash. Unloaded, the auxiliary department: put their streams to play around the Marsac mill, making a desperate fight to save the historical structure, and three streams fed by a reservoir above were played upon it from 4:16 a.m., to 4:30 p.m. by a south wind, which swept entire street. Park City's business por-streams fed by a reservoir above were played upon it from 4:15 a.m. to 4:30

Britisher, Los Angeles: I read with interest in The Times an exchange paragraph referring to the want of respect shown when the national an is played. Now, as a Britisher it has always been my custom, when in a foreign country, to pay my respects to the national emblem and to follow the lead of the citizens in so doing. into in France the same applies to the President, and in the old country a man who refused to rise and uncover when the national anthem is played would be promptly difted and his hat telescoped over his ears.

At many ceremonies I have nessed, such as flag-raisings and the like, it struck me forcibly that while the people of this great county a lack their fatherland, yet they show a lack of respect by not saluting their flag or of respect by not saluting their flag or the national air stands as On two occasions I was somewhat embarrassed by being the only person in the crowd that paid any mark of respect to the flag or the national air; and I may say that it occurred within a week of my landing in this country. The first occasion was in a New York theater. The orchestra played "America," and, unconsciously, I stood up uncovered; being alorie and quite conspicuous, I saw a faint smile pass over the countenances of the audience, and, needless, to say I promptly sat down. The other occasion was at a flag-raising. The flag was presented and respectively in the constant of the country of the constant of the constant of the constant of the country of the constant of the country of the constant of the country of the countr in the crowd that paid any mark of ing. I waved my hat in the air and gave a hurrah. The crowd looked at me just an instant, and in less than a second a hundred hats were off and a mighty shout was yelled by all.

I love to see the people take pride in their national emblems; hat-raising to the President or Governors; a hurrah for the fiag; standing uncovered when the glorlous national emblem is unfurled. It is not the man, the piece of bunting or the tune that is honored. It is the nation, the symbol of the nation, and the expression of love for the commonwealth.

I love my own Union Jack, my own country and its institutions, but I also respect and reverence all that stands as representing this great country, all its broad-minded humanity and tolerance. I want to show it on all possible occasions; I want to show that I feel that we are of the same blood and aspirations, and that I am not unmindful of all the many courtesies and marks of friendship that I and other Englishmen have received in this country.

Hence, I for one will always be ready

"Calls Down" Miles and Shafter [Can Francisco Examiner:] Smoking is prohibited on the whaves about Tampa and signs in English and Spanish are posted to that effect. Private T. W. Snelling of Co. G, First Illinois, was on guard there yesterday when he saw e rotund man in full uniform walking and conversing with a graymustached, straight, soldierly-looking gentleman, dressed plainly in black and wearing a straw hat. Both were smoking and continued to do so till their path was bared by a Springfield gentleman, dressed plainly in black and wearing a straw hat. Both were smoking and continued to do so till their path was bared by a Springfield rifle.

"You must stop smoking, gentlemen," said Snelling.

Just then he caught sight of a major-general's insignia on the shoulder of the one in uniform.

"Yes, certainly," calmly observed the smokers, grinding their weeds under heels.

Later Snelling discovered that he had "called down" Gen. Miles and. Maj.-Gen. Shafter.

Private Wendling of the same regiment had a similar adventure. He found an old gentleman smoking on the wharf.

"Don't you know you are liable to set fire to the whole harbor?" he asked the smoker.

"Well, that's all right. I own it. My name is Plant—Henry B. Plant."

"Put out that cigar, or your name will be something else," said Wendling, and the railroad man threw away his perfecto.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] WASHINGTON, June 19 .- The Hawallan question comes to the front again in the Senate during the present week, but under somewhat different circumstances from those which at-tended its presentation at the begin-ning of the session. The purpose was then, as it is now, to secure the annexation of the islands to the United States, but the effort at that time was to secure this result by means of a treaty, whereas the present course was through the instrumentality joint resolution. On the first of antality of a the matter was considered in execu-tive session with the public excluded while now the doors are to be thrown open and the world invited.

What the outcome of the question may be, or when the vote may be reached, no one will undertake to say positively. The leaders on both sides are full of prophecy, but there is much discrepancy between their opinions as to render it necessary to discard one in order to accept the other. The friends or annexation assert that there is no possible doubt of their ability to pass the resolution, and say they have a quorum, pledged to remain in the Senate until the question can be de-cided, while the opposing leaders declare that forty-eight Senators have assured them they will vote to adjourn in preference to remaining in session indefinitely for the consideration of the Hawaiian question.

The supporters of the proposition ex-press confidence that action will be secured within ten days, while the op-position contend that it will be found to be impossible to secure a vote during the present session of Congress. The opposition say they are willing to make the speeches if compelled to do so, but that if forced to do this, they will insist that the friends of the measure shall maintain a constant quorum in the chamber. They also predict that the annexationists find themselves compelled to partici-pate in the proceedings, as they expect to advance points which will mand refutation, or at least replies. In view of this generally contradictory condition, one can only base prediction on general conditions. There is no doubt in the first place that the annexationists have a majority in the Senate, if a vote can be reached. If a vote could be gotten now, the result would be about fifty-four for annexation to thirty-five against in a full Senate. Of these fifty-four Senators there are, however, quite a number who are not zealous, and in whose minds all doubt as to the policy of acquisition of outside territory has not been overcome. These Senators, as a rule, are indisposed to remain in session for any length of time during the hot summer months to consider Hawaiian an-In view of this generally contradic-ory condition, one can only base preany length of time during the hot summer months to consider Hawatian annexation. The ceremony was performed according to the orthodox Jewish rites, by Rabbi Edelmony was performed according to the orthodox Jewish rites, by Rabbi Edelman. The parlor was prettily decorated with palms, potted plants and flowers, and the bridal party stood beneath a large bell of white carnations and maidenhair. The bride was gowned in white brocaded satin, garnitured with orange blossoms and carried a cluster of bride roses. The ceremony was followed by a breakfast, at which covers were laid for thirty. A reception was held from 2 to 5 o'clock, and among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Federman, Mrs. N. Newmark, Mr. and Mrs. H. Klein, Mr. and Mrs. A. Klein, Mrs. Mendelson, Mr. and Mrs. Sheen of New York, Mr Mendelson, Mrs. Solomon of Fresno, sister of the groom; Mrs. Esther Isaacs, Miss Esther Norton, Mr. Norton, Victor Harris, Miss Rose Kallsher, Mrs. Goldberg and the Misses Goldberg. Mr. and Mrs. Edwards left in the evening for a two weeks' visit in San Francisco. The bride's going-away gown was of dark green cloth, with hat to match. The gifts were numerous and handsome.

IN THE OIL FIELD.

TURTHER DETAILS OF THE BIG SPRECKELS CONTRACT.

Meet and Discuss It-Re port That the Quantity Will Be Covered - Another Meeting Today-Present Production and De-mand Now About Equal.

The principal feature of interest in the field last week was the reported requiremnt of 180,000 barrels of oil for requiremnt of 180,000 barrels of oil for the Spreckels new beet-sugar factory, the news of which was first given in The Times. Since then it has been learned that the San Francisco parties empowered to make the contract treated directly with Mr. Book, manager in Los Angeles of the Rex Oil Company. Mr. Book went to San Francisco, arranged the matter, agreed on price, and then returned here to see if the quantity of oil necessary to secure the contract was obtainable. It may be said here, and at once, that the oil is obtainable, and that sub-contracts will be made with oil-producers to fully meet the requirements of the contract, which calls for an average deliyery of 500 barrels a day for one year. 500 barrels a day for one year.

meet the requirements of the contract, which calls for an average delivery of 500 barrels a day for one year.

Last Friday evening a meeting of many of the more prominent oil-producers was held in Boutellier's Hall on Bellevue avenue, at which this proposed contract and price were discussed. The majority of those present were favorably disposed toward furnishing the oil, and the result was the election of three trustees to meet and confer with Mr. Book on the matter. The three trustees elected are J. S. Crosswell, Walter Young and G. W. Tubbs.

Prior to calling on Mr. Book it was, intended to hold another meeting of producers on Saturday, but it was learned that Mr. Book was not in the city on that day, so the meeting was not held. From one of the three trustees it was learned that Mr. Book was not in the city on that day, so the meeting was not held. From one of the three trustees it was learned that Mr. Book is willing to make over the contract to them on their agreeing to pay him 1) per cent. of the value of the oil delivered during the next succeeding three months, It could not be learned whether these percentages were on the gross price of $1½ cents a barrel. Fome claim that oil cannot be loaded, hauled to the cars, and delivered for less than 6 cents a barrel. Some claim that oil cannot be loaded, hauled to the cars, and delivered for less than 6 cents a barrel. It is said that another meeting will be invited to be present and be æked to state with exactness the terms on which he will transfer his contract for the delivery of the oil. If an agreement between the three trustees and Mr. Book is reached the contract will enter into life and the delivery of the 180,000 barrels begin as soon as called for.

It is stated that the supply and demand of oil in this field are now about cil centraets, and that they have now arranged for all the oil they will need for some time to come.

The Richfield Oil Company of Orange county, have filed articles of incorporation, with a capital stock of $500,000, divided into 50,000 shares, of which amount $50,000 has been subscribed. The directors are C. Easton, San Francisce: G. W. Parsons, W. L. Valentine. L. Phipps, and G. D. Eaton, all of Los Angeles.

The Oil Producers' Trustees have just issued their report of transactions for last monta (May.) The report shows that they had on hand in storage on May 1, 95,747 barrels, fractions of barrels omitted. Their receipts during the month were 19,995 barrels, which was $571 barrels less than their April receipts. Sales during May were 19 322 barrels, being 1585 barrels more than they sold in April. The balance in storage on June 1 was 96,420 barrels, of which all, with the exception of 1137 barrels, was in the Oil Storage and Transportation Company's tanks.

The gross amount received for the 19,322 barrels barrels land in May was $11,855,56.

Transportation Company's tanks.

The gross amount received for the 19,322 barrels sold in May was $11,855.56, an average value per barrel at the wells of 61.38 cents. The cost of selling including office, field and general expenses, and cost of storage is reported at $1946.24, leaving the net amount received for the 19,322 barrels sold, $9909.82, being a net average per barrel of 51.28 cents per barrel.

The net average price per barrel received for sales the preceding month (April) was 59 3-5 cents per barrel. The decrease for May is accounted for by the lower price of oil in the field, which lower price the trustees were compelled to meet.

The last number received of the Oli City Derrick gives a most intersting report of a phenomenal "gusher" in the southwestern oil fields of Pennsylvania. It occurred on the Economy tract and, as the Derrick says, flashed up such a surprise as to show that they have still a few rich spots in that State. The well was drilled three feet into the sand, and then, as reported in the Derrick, "started to flow at the rate of 38 barrels an hour, drilling was then suspended and as is usual with the wells in that locality it began to decline and went down to fifteen barrels an hour. At that time it was agitated and for the first forty-five hours thereafter produced 420 barrels, or an average of twenty-eight barrels an hour. Its future record as a gusher is altogether problematical at this time. Some few of the largest Economy wells have been commendable stayers, but as a rule they have declined rapidly, and a single location from a big producer may result in a small well or a dry hole."

Office work precludes sufficient bodily exercise, and lack of such exercise brings on indigestion, dyspepsia and stomach troubles generally. The case of a Chicago bookkeeper demonstrates this fact clearly. "Through cle confinement in my calling," said he, "I became a confirmed dyspeptic and you know what that means. I was miserable, and made every one else so. In a state of extreme distress I went to medicine for relief. The druggist recommended Ripans Tabules. Without any particular confidence in their effecting a cure, I took them, and to-day must confess that I have not the feeling I once had for a patent medicine. They certainly braced up my digestion wonderfully."

Hanlon, manager of the Baltimore club, informs the league officials that his club has been runnig at a loss of $300 daily, and that he has been compelled to seil players to even up. President Young attributes the meager returns to head-quarters to the war. drinkings and his ramblings, he made the acquaintance of William Henny, a young "graduate" of the Whittier Reform School. The two quickly became intimate, for they had one cardinal idea in common—to have what is supposed to constitute a good time. What Henny doesn't know about "the ropes" of Los Angeles, is scarcely worth knowing, so it is a safe presumption that Bushnell saw what there is to see of the under side of things.

When the sun began to rise in the east, Bushnell and Henny were drunk, the former too intoxicated to be particular where he went. Henny suggested that he go to his room at Third and Bensadway and occupy an adjoining pillow. Bushnell did so, and that is why his visit to the city came to the notice of the police. While Henny was drunk he was not so far gone as not to have observed that Bushnell's suit was better than his own; also that he had some money, and gold buttons in his shirt. The thought of this awoke the young man quickly. He assured himself that Bushnell was fast asleep, and then he began to plunder. He took every stitch of clothes his compenion had, wrapped them in bundles and took them to his other roomfor young men of the Henny kind usually have more than one room.

Meanwhile Bushnell slept, and when he awoke and prepared to dress himself, he smiled at what he thought was a joke his friend had played on him. Not finding Henny anywhere in the closets, or under the bed, he made a careful search of the room with a flat stick, intending to have some fun with his companion if he found him lying flat on his stomach in hiding. He found neither Henny nor his clothes, and then he realized that his position of nudity in a strange building was a serious one; also annoying and certainly questionable. SHORT STORY OF THE DAY.

THE LITTLE LADY AND THE RIFLE

[PUBLISHED IN THE TIMES BY SPECIAL ARRANGEMENT.]

THE little lady, with the rifle held to her shoulder, shut her eyes and turned her head partly away. "Oh, I can't do it!" she said in a tremulous whisper.

The young man frowned quickly, muttered something about the worthessness of woman's nerve, and silpping his finger over the small white one that was endeavoring to press the triger, he gave it a sharp jerk. There was a could not have to stick—should be should be shad a shill be should be should be should be should be should be s lessness of woman's nerve, and slipping his finger over the small white one that was endeavoring to press the triger, he gave it a sharp jerk. There was a crisp crack, a puff of smoke spurted out of the rifle's muzzle, and the ruffled hawk on the topmost bow of the maple tree shook his wings leisurely and salled serpely avery in long, sweeping. sailed serenely away in long, sweeping upward circles. Then the young man looked into the pretty, apologetic face of the little lady for a moment and

"You girls are queer creatures and no mistake," he said, with a flavor of bitterness in his words if not in his voice. "You have no hesitation in killvoice. "You have no hesitation in killing a fellow's love with one decided remark, but you lack the courage to shoot a bird of prey, even when it is eating up all the song birds in the neighborhood as fast as it can. Consistency, thou art a paste jewel!"

Then he took the repeater from the hands that were not brave enough to do anything to death but a man's love, and cast out the empty shell.

"My lack of courage is only equalled by your absence of gallantry," she said, as she received the reloaded rifle again, and held her head higher than even the trim collar of her jacket called for. "I am quite sure you are as rude as I am—as I am softhearted!"

"Soft-hearted!" repeated the young man, in unfeigned astonishment. "For

"And why not?" asked she, picking a bright red, wexen barberry from the sturdy bush at her feet. On the sturdy been sturdy been sturdy in the sturdy been reading too many Uncle Remus tales of late. Children should not be allowed to fill their mines with literature that gives them daymares; it lant group speak from experience?" suggested the little lady, innocent and sentie in the extreme.

The other glanced at her pretty mouth and at the whisp of bair blowing lovingly about on her white forehead; and bit his lip. Then he turned and continued the interrupted walk down the half-buried path into the deeper woods. The little lady call the crook of her arm, as did cat the sturdy of them. And all the whiles he desired from the bottom of her hard little heart to make him feel bad for what. But had said about her lack of nerve. Suddenly the young man stopped, peered with interest at some round, light tracks in the snow, and said, "That is a wild cat. Perhaps we may get a chance to bag something worth having, after all."

She opened her yes very wide, and looked equivalently to keep him in a good humor, of course. "He ought to be close by," continued the experienced humer, "the sland be shid an elephant she would have agreed as promptly; not because she was ignorant, but merely to keep him in a good humor, of course. "He ought to be close by," continued the experienced humer, "the shid wellow himself, glaring down upon the intruders with anything but welcome in his attitude and appearance. The young man straightened himself quickly.

"Stand behind me," he said sharply to his companion, "and don't move. If I make him you must run for it, because he may show sight. They are vicious beasts, especially if wounded himself

The young man said nothing: he simply took her in his arms, ruffled her yellow hair outrageously, kissed her tenderly on her forehead, her lips and throat, and then declared himself, curiously enough, the happiest man curiously enough, the happiest man alive.

They left the dead wild cat where he lay, because the young man rightly enough felt that wild game of that sort had no place in the best love story he had ever known.

"We will send James for it," said he. "Come, my darling Diana of the nine-teenth century, let us go home, where I can begin to dedicate my life to your service, for you have given me that privilege, you remember, Dorothy."

She smiled happily, as she gave him her slim hand, and then she looked quickly back at the fallen prey stiffening in the cold, and their recent narrow

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES. WASHINGTON, June 14.-Treasury officials are more or less worried over officials are more of less would be the provisions of the new bond issue, Of course, it is a very fine thing to have our government bonds taken up by small investors, who will hold them, and thus increase the number of them, and thus increase the mass of the people throughout the country who own honds, and therefore decrease the number and point of demagogue attacks on "bloated bondholders."

But the truth is that the treasury people have little hope that any large percentage of the permanent small in-vestors will subscribe. They will not vestors will subscribe. They will not understand the methods, no matter how often they are explained, and will prefer to wait until the bonds get into the hands of the banks, and then buy them. Of course, this will mean that they will have to pay a premium of 2, 3, or 4 per cent., as the case may be, but many will prefer to do this rather than subscribe at first hand.

rather than subscribe at first hand.

There will be millions of small subscribers, of course, but most of them will probably be men of straw, who have bid for banks or large concerns of some sort or other. The profit on the premium is sufficient to inspire all sorts of attempts of this character, and although the treasury has determined that it will reject every case of the kind that it can detect, still the process is so easy and a detection so difficult, that most of the bonds must go in this way. Of ceurse, it does not really matter to the government from whom its money comes, as long as it gets it.

really matter to the government from whom its money comes, as long as it gets it.

Many of the great banking institutions of the country have written to Secretary Gage that they regret that they cannot participate in the subscription without descending to practices which they considered beneath their dignity. One Chicago bank, which had orders amounting to over four millions from its customers, has notified them that their only chance is to subscribe as individuals. There are many more cases like this. A New York bank, which had given notice that it would subscribe for $25,000,000 of the new loan, will now not bid at all.

This is not an unmixed evil by any means, as it will diminish the talk of "Wall-street sharks," and will distribute the bonds among the people as fairly as any method that can be devised, but it is feared that there may be some unpleasant features to be dealt with before the subscriptions are closed.

The method will be to tabulate all the bids received, with the smallest at the head, and to assign right down the list until a certain amount, not yet determined, but probably about $1000, is reached. Then all bids over that will be supplied pro rata out of the remainder of the issue.

The well was bored to a depth of 150 feet, and had a casing of seven inchesinternal diameter. Blue clay had been encountered all the way down. Gas escaped rapidly, and when it was ignited the fame played ten or twelve feet above the ground. Considering the large size of the pipe, it is thought there must be a great flow of gas. ANAHEIM, June 19.—(Regular Correspondence.) The canning-factory machinery was given a satisfactory test yesterday, and it all is in readiness for business.

Miss Mabel Gale of Olive had her hand painfully torn by riding against a barbedwire fence while hastily crossing a field. The flesh in the palm of the hand was terribly lacerated.

DEATH VALLEY.

THE LAND OF POISONOUS SPRINGS

Roads and Trails, the Water-courses, Mountains, Climate, Geological Formations and Tra-

the outside water is bad, stock, it left to themse'ves, will poss through and drink from the center, where it boils up unmixed with the outer pool. The water has a suiphur smell, but tastes very salty, and while not so bad as its name indicates, it is not pleasant to the taste. It is said that arsenic is the principal poison in l.

Here on the side of the marsh, near the bluffs, is where the emigrants camped to meet their death, away back in 1850. There are still traces of their camp. Old pleces of rusty iron, boits and part of a wagon box, were picked up, together with several other mementees. This place is twenty mile above Furnace Creek is he nearest good water toward the south, while the same distance toward the north is Mesquite Springs in Mesquite Valley.

Furnace Creek is a veritable oasis in this valley of desolation, and to come upon it without previous knowledge, is one of the few pleasant things about a trip to Death Valley. Where Furnace Creek debouches into the valley, and close to its mouth, are a number of springs, which, altogether, send out a volume of water of several hundred onches. When the Greenland borax works, now owned by the Pacific Coast Borax Company, were established, in 1883, a mile or two toward the north, a ranch was established among the mesquite trees at the mouth of Furnace Creek, and the water was carried there in an irrigating ditch. Today there is a fine field of thirty acres of alfalfa, a vegetables garden, fig trees in bearing, a comfortable ranch-house, with wide verands on every side, cool cottonwood trees, throwing a grateful shade, barns, corrising, a comfortable ranch-house, with wide verands on every side, cool cottonwood trees, throwing a grateful shade, barns, corrising, a comfortable ranch-house, with wide verands on every side, cool cottonwood trees, throwing a grateful shade, barns, corrising, a comfortable ranch-house, with wide verands on every side, cool cottonwood trees, throwing a grateful shade, barns, corrising, a comfortable ranch has been there for eigh time this year has been below the average for heat.

Mr. Dayton says it seldom rains in the valley, there being no rainy season as in other portions of the coast. It occasionally snows a little in winter, but the snow immediately melts. The borax works are standing idle. A three-luch pipe line conveys the water from a little above the ranch to the works, about two miles above.

As to the route to reach the valley and the water stations: The first and easiest way is to leave the Panamint Valley and road a little north of Lone Willow Spring, and take the wagon road up over a Low divide at the south end of Death Valley, and travel down the valley. There is a good plain wagon road the whole distance to Bennet's Wells, located among some mesquite trees in the lowest portion of the valley. The distance from Lone Willow is sixty miles, and it is necessary to carry a barrel of water for camping one night on the Way.

The water at Bennet's Wells is an open stock to drink it unless there is strong evidence that it is good, as much of the surface water in the valley will not only kill people, but stock also.

The next good water is at Furnace Creek, about twenty-five miles from Bennet's Wells, the road following the west side of the valley, about half-way, and then crossing over to the other side, through the Devil's Dough Pan, the formation aiready described. It is very good, having been made years ago by the heavy teams, but it is little traveled now. The horses' hoofs sounding all the way over the solid, compact mass as though traveling on a metallic road.

From Furnace Creek north to Mesquite wells is forty miles, and water must be carried between here and the Poison Springs, which are unfit for use. This route can be driven over in comparative comfort, as the road is fairly good all the way.

One can go to Ballarat in the Panamint Valley, and drive ten miles up Pleasant Cafion, leave the wagon, take riding animais and pack mules, strike a trail and go over the Panamint, range to the south of Telercope peak, crossing the mountains at an elevation of 2000 feet, and go down Johnson Cafion, reaching the valley at Bennet; Wells, a distance by horseback of about thirty miles. The trail is a dim one and difficult to follow, besides being very steep in places.

Little Cirl the Victim - She Took Few Bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla and Was Cured.

"My little girl became afflicted with hip disease when she was five years old. She was confined to her bed and for six or seven weeks the doctor applied weights to the affected limb. When she got up she was not able to walk across the floor. She had lost all her strength and day by day she became thinner. One day I happened to receive one of Hood's Sarsa parilla Calendars and on one of the slips was a testimonial telling of a cure of a parilla. I decided to give this medicine taken three bottles her appetite was excellent and she looked quite well and was very much strengthened. She has not used her crutches for over eight months and walks to school every day."

SEWER IRRIGATION

VSTEM VIELDING HANDSOME REV

Irrigators Are Requested to Tak Great Pains to Keep the Sew-age From Contact With Vegetables.

The present excessively dry season has not been without its compensation to the tillers of the lands along the outfall sewer. A few years ago when the scheme of a great drainage conduit from the city to the sea was tak ing shape, the idea of making provi-sion for sewage irrigation along the line of the great work was stubbornly opposed. But the idea was adopted and many of those who were its bitamong its stoutest champions.

blessings which it has done away with a prejudice which is now well-nigh forgotten. The trouble with the sewerage now is that there is not half enough of it to satisfy the demands of the farmers who are clam for the water and fertilization

tered by it would doubtless prove con-

some overworked imaginations. A personal inspection of the gardens watered by it would doubtless prove convincing to those who are skeptical. Under the personal direction of a representative of the city all irrigators buying sewage directly from the city are required to take great pains to keep the sewage from contact with the vegetables, and especially those which are brought to the table uncooked. In round numbers there are 4000 acres of land under irrigation from the city sewers. Of this amount 1000 acres are irrigated by the South Side Irrigation Company. This company is operating under an old contract with the city, entered into before the outfall sewer was constructed. The contract has nine years yet to run and, according to its terms the city delivers to the company a comstant flow of three heads, or 300 miner's inches, of sewage, the point of delivery being at San Pedro and Washington streets. The policy of the company has been to spread the sewage over its lands whether the season be wet or dry, and the result has been that soil formerly sterile has been made very productive.

The balance of the sewage from what is known as the internal system of sewers passes into the outfall to be carried to the sea when not otherwise required, but to be used for irrigation whenever wanted. Since the completion of the outfall system in 1894, a few minor, but important, changes have been made in the construction where experience has demonstrated that they were needed. On the west side of the Agricultural Park grounds is the settling chamber, built with its bottom a little lower than the bottom of the sewer, the chamber being designed to afford lodgment for sand coming through the linternal sewers and to prevent it from passing beyond that point. When the outfall was first put in use the sand accumilated in the chamber with almost alarming rapidity and its removal was a matter of great expense to the city. Later, the accumulation was less rapid, but when taken out its malcdorous condition aroused such a protest that it had to be hauled over two miles to a dumping place. The usual quantity of such sand removed now is 120 cubic yards once in six months. The long-distance haul made the cost of removal 50 cents per yard. Lately, the great value of the sand deposit as a fertilizer has been discovered, and a farmer not half as far away is very willing to have the sand deposited on his place, which can be done at half the cost of the previous haul. When the true value of the fertilizer is learned it is possible that the city will get a revenue for it.

the ferthizer is learned it is possible that the city will get a revenue for it. In irrigation it is important to secure the delivery of the water at the highest available point, for when in the ditches the water of course will not run up hill. The outfall has a wood pipe in inverted siphon form running from the settling chamber toward the sea. When filled with sewage the pipe is under pressure and of certain points.

pipe in inverted siphon form running from the settling chamber toward the sea. When filled with sewage the pipe is under pressure and at certain points is thydrants have been connected through which the sewage may be thrown up several feet above the surface of the ground. The pipe was laid without provision for taking sewage out from it at any point tigher than near its middle portion. In order to irrigate land near its upper end an outlet was constructed later at the side of the settling chamber and through that there is now taken sufficient sewage to irrigate 500 acres. The same device may be used as a temporary outlet for all the sewage, should it be desired to make any repairs in the pipe below the settling chamber.

Beside the three-mile section of woodpipe siphon running from the settling chamber there is in the outfall another section of about the same length and form near Inglewood. Irrigation from both of these sections is made possible by the sewage being under pressure. Both of the wood-pipe sections were originally constructed with valves at their lower ends, by the closing of which the pressure could be raised to the desired height for irrigation glescope. But it was found to be a rather lower ends, by the closing of which the pressure could be raised to the desired height without unduly straining the pipe. A few other improvements the sewage could be raised to the desired height without unduly straining the pipe. A few other improvements the pipe. A few other improvements and the spring water which has the least mineeral in it has the least mineeral in it has the least mineeral matter in Purlicular this season has been chiefly in vegetable gardens, although several.

burst certain portions of the sewer have been made.

The irrigation near Agricultural Park this season has been chiefly in vegetable gardens, although several large alfaifa fields have also been made to produce big crops. In all the vegetable gardens in that vicinity irrigated with the city sewage there is only one acre of strawberries. The amount of lettuce and other plants most liable to damage by contact with the sewage is also very small.

In the irrigation of all such vegetables, C. F. Derby, the city's agent in charge of irrigation from the outfall, has made very strict regulations. He requires the irrigators to run the water in very deep trenches, so that the zewage cannot touch the plants. Any gardener violating this rule is liable to have his supply of sewage shut off for thirty days and to have his produce condemned by the health authorities of the city. One perverse Chinaman was made to suffer this penalty and since them he and all his fellow Monvolians have conformed with servile strictness to the rules laid down.

Garden vegetables are irrigated five or six time per year by running the water between the rows. They are irrigated frequently, but only a little at a time. The water is intended for the roots and it is very infrequent that it comes in contact with the plants. Radishes, beets, potatoes and other tubers are under ground, and it is only the filtered water that can touch them, and that only on the surface.

About 2500 acres of land are irrigated from the outfall sewer near Inglewood. The crops include barley, alfalfa, corn and notatoes. Barley, alfalfa and other crops not planted in wide rows are irrigated "broadcast." The ground is divided into strips from sixteen to twenty feet wide, and from 150 to 300 feet long. These divisions are formed with ridges sufficient to retain the water, which is turned on at the upper end of the strip and kept running till it has flooded the strip.

Barley requires irrigation but once a year, corn once or twice, alfalfa once for each crop, or about one time in six weeks; potatoes once for each crop, Much water is wasted by running into noles made by gophers and squirrels. The results of irrigation about Ingle-rood are most striking on the corn and barley lands. A vast area of corn having the dark green hue peculiar to a rank growth may be seen waving prettily to the breeze, while at spots within a few feet of that thrifty vegetation, the same kind of soil is dry and barren, because not irrigated. The same contrast may be observed on the barley lands.

By means of the sewage irrigation two crops per year may now be raised barley lands. By means of the sewage irrigation

By means of the sewage irrigation two crops per year may now be raised where it has heretofore been impossible to raise more than one, even when there were bountiful rains in winter. A crop of barley may be harvested and a crop of corn grown on the same ground, where without watering the soil by artificial means, only the barley crop could be raised.

The cost of the sewage is not a heavy burden on the irrigators. The rates are the same as for water service from the city zanja system, being $5 per day from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m. per head of 100 miner's inches, and $3 per night per head. The night flow of sewage is less thas in daytime, and the irrigators find it more difficult to care for. The day flow on Monday in the outfall. exclusive of what is delivered to the South Side Irrigation Company, averages about six heads. During the rest of the week it amounts to about five heads daily, and on Sunday it is about four heads. The night flow diminishes from about five heads in the early evening to approximately, two and one-half heads in the early morning.

All of the land under irrigation from the outfall is well adapted to that method of watering. It is a loose, jorous soll, with sufficient slope to insure good drainage, so as to make it impossible for the ground to get waterlogged.

The amount of sewage necessary for

The amount of sewage necessary for the irrigation of different pieces of ground varies according to the character of the crops and the slope of the land. Excepting on vegetable gardens, where more water is required, the amount used will not vary far from one-fifth of one head of sewage per acre for twelve hours per year, or per crop, making the cost of the sewage $1 per acre. The cost of labor to care for the sewage, when delivered, is rather less than the cost of the sewage. Crops ranging in value from $10 per acre upward are raised by means of the small expenditure stated, and that where without irrigation little or nothing could be grown, at least on a dry year, such as grown, at least on a dry year, such this is. Men who have had experience in sewage irrigation, attribute great value to the fertilizer which it contains. Sev-eral hundred acres of land near Unito the fertilizer which it contains. Several hundred acres of land near University were a few years ago irrigated with fresh water. After raising crops on it for two years, it was necessary to let it lay idle for a year, the soil having been exhausted. With the use of sewer irrigation crops of kinds which ordinarily exhaust the soil are raised continuously, and that without any apparent diminution of the productive capacity of the soil. About inglewood, where sewer irrigation has been going on for four years, the prodigious crops raised do not exhaust the soil, but on the contrary the soil gets more and more fertile yearly, as shown by the products of that land.

Lands flooded with sewage are temporarily unfragrant, it is true, but this condition lasts only for a day or so, if the sun shines brightly. Without the sun shines brightly. Without the sun shines brightly. But after that there is no unpleasant evidence of the sewage until the next time of irrigating.

Weak and Weary Men,

There is help. There is assistance that actually alters the state of living. Weak men have weak backs. Weary men do not feel inclined to work Weak and weary men have no such feeling as that of jull power or of vitality. They are at all times forced to confess that they are unfit for the duties of man. A man who is full of power goes at his daily work with vim and a sense that he can accomplish all he desires to. The puny man never does this. He fears at all times. He shakes. His nerves are half gone. "Hudyan" restores nerve power. "Hudyan" is the one thing that does. The bright look in the eyes, the feeling of confidence, the grand muscular de velopment of all of the organs and the sense of vigor are produced by it It is Nature's remedy for the men of weak and weary constitutions. Circulars showing what it has done for 20,000 people are gladly sent you absolutely free. No charge is made for medical advice, either. Suppose that you have blood taint-shown by loose teeth, falling out of hair, thinning of eyebrows and in other ways-why not have some good advice about it as long as it costs not a cent?
